Final Bulletins

FAR EAST CLIMAX WITHIN 24 HOURS

LONDON (AP)—British sources said tonight they expected a climax in 24 hours in the Far East, where Japan was said to be making sweeping demands on French Indo-China.

These sources said Japan's real motive was to establish bases from which to challenge British sea power based on Singapore and declared that mighty British naval base had been "forewarned and forearmed."

The British and United States governments were said to have reached an understanding on measures necessitated by growing Japanese pressure on Indo-China.

Jap Convoy Seen

CHUNGKING (AP)—Admiral Yang Shen-chen, director of Chinese military intelligence, told foreign correspondents today that 30 Japanese transports convoyed by three warships, had been seen near Hongkong on July 18, steaming in the direction of Indo-China.

Ambassador Confers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Admiral Kichisaburo Nomura, the Japanese ambassador, after a 30-minute conference with the Acting Secretary of State, told newspapermen this afternoon he hoped that "the feeling between our two countries will become better and better."

220 Nazis Detained

LISBON (AP)—Expelled Italian diplomats, held six hours aboard the United States transport West Point after arrival here, were ordered released this evening, but their German colleagues were detained.

The 220 Germans were being held until three special trains bearing U.S. consuls, employees and families from Germany and German-occupied countries have safely crossed the Portuguese frontier.

Mobilization Request

VANCOUVER (CP)—Officials of the British Columbia Branch, Canadian Legion, report Prime Minister Mackenzie King has promised to place before the Dominion cabinet "at the first available opportunity" recommendations made by the organization favoring "total mobilization" and extension of the cost-of-living bonus to war veterans.

World Situation Seen Growing Worse

WASHINGTON (AP)—Chairman May (Democrat, Kentucky) of the House of Representatives military committee said today he believed the international situation "is even more serious than the general public understands and is rapidly becoming more serious."

The chairman had just left an executive session of his committee at which General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, had been questioned about the need for retention of selectees, guardsmen and reserve officers in training beyond a year.

Nazi Ship Sunk

LONDON (CP)—A German coastal vessel was sunk and others damaged in a series of Royal Air Force raids on German shipping today, it was stated tonight.

Intense raids were made also against the Nazi-held coasts of France and the Low Countries.

Objectives near St. Omer, in France, were attacked. The R.A.F. lost 10 planes and five German fighters were shot down.

Anxious to Serve

VANCOUVER (CP)—Ernest S. Bird, discharged from the army recently as medically unfit, appeared in police court today on a charge of smashing windows in a military car, pleaded guilty and told Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson:

"If I am unfit for the army I figure I might as well go to jail." He was remanded.

To Fix Gas Prices

TORONTO (CP)—Fixing of wholesale and retail gasoline prices is under consideration by the oil controller, G. R. Cottrell, and when a sound basis for the plan is worked out it will be put into effect.

Mr. Stewart said no request has yet gone out to the provinces asking them to reduce speed limits.

Sees War's End

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. K. Dip Lum, Chinese technical expert, adviser to Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek and special envoy to the United States, believes early defeat of Japan in her war against China will mean defeat of Hitler within a short time.

"If this struggle can be wound up all the countries can turn to the Atlantic and put more pressure on Hitler," he said here. Stoppage of U.S. oil shipments to Japan would be a large factor in ending the Japanese-Chinese conflict, he said.

Railway Changes

Hungerford Quits C.N.R. Vaughan New President

S. J. HUNGERFORD

R. C. VAUGHAN

MONTREAL (CP)—S. J. Hungerford, 69, has resigned as president of the Canadian National Railways and R. C. Vaughan, 58, vice-president, has been appointed his successor. Changes are effective tomorrow.

H. J. Symington, K.C., of Montreal succeeds Mr. Hungerford as president of Trans-Canada Airlines.

Mr. Hungerford will remain as chairman of the railways' directorate and president of National Railways' Munitions Limited.

In submitting his resignation, Mr. Hungerford said war expansion required continuity of executive judgment and that this could best be done by a younger president.

A C.N.R. announcement said the board of directors accepted Mr. Hungerford's resignation with regret.

COLORFUL CAREER

Mr. Hungerford has had one of the most colorful careers in North America. Born in Bedford, Quebec, he started at the bottom and finished at the top. His first job was as machinists' apprentice with the C.P.R. in 1891. At one time he served as C.P.R. locomotive foreman at Winnipeg. In 1915 he went to the Canadian Northern Railway and later became general manager of eastern lines.

When the C.N.R. was formed, Mr. Hungerford was named vice-president. He became president in 1932, succeeding the late Sir Henry Thornton.

The new president has had 42 years' railroad experience, 38 of them with the C.N.R. and their predecessors. He was born in Toronto.

(Mr. Hungerford is well known in Victoria, having been an annual visitor here for many years. He often combined business with pleasure here and liked to come to the city in the early spring, so he could play golf when eastern courses were still frozen.)

Blast Rocks Seville

SEVILLE, Spain (AP)—An entire powder warehouse less than four miles from here exploded with terrific force today.

The number of casualties was not immediately known.

Japan Prepares New Plunge, Britain, U.S. Unite Moves

Canadian and Associated Press
The Japanese Embassy at Washington said this afternoon it had received a report, which lacked official confirmation, that Japan and the French Vichy government had reached an agreement on Indo-China. An official of the embassy declined to give the origin of the report.

Far East dispatches said during the day that Japan had made sweeping demands for concessions in southern French Indo-China, possible springboard for an attack on Britain's great naval base at Singapore, and within striking distance of the rich Netherlands East Indies, and that the French had yielded.

Simultaneously, a Reuter's news agency dispatch from Hanoi, the capital of France's oriental colony, said it had been confirmed officially that the Japanese had demanded the use of facilities in southern Indo-China.

By "facilities" it was assumed the Japanese meant airfields and naval bases.

Japanese Move Also in North

Among observers in Shanghai the predominant opinion today was that Japan was rushing military preparations for action both in southeastern Asia and in the north.

A move into French Indo-China was expected to come first, with foreign military quarters expressing the opinion it would start within a week.

They suggested it would consist of occupation of Saigon and other strategic southern Indo-China points, followed by demands for bases and economic concessions.

Move Coming Soon, Says Frank Knox

In Washington Frank Knox, Secretary of the U.S. Navy had said there was "no question" but that recent developments in the Far East, including the Japanese government's establishment of radio and cable censorship on information from that country, meant new military movements in the Far East.

Knox told his press conference "I look for movement out there—very soon."

He declined, however, to discuss the possible direction of such a move, saying that "no one can tell at this point whether it will go north or south."

REPLACES MATSUOKA — Admiral Teijiro Toyoda, who now directs Japan's foreign policies.

The Navy Secretary was asked whether the United States fleet was in position to do "whatever is necessary to carry out our policy in the Far East."

Smiling, Knox said "yes," and declined to elaborate.

British-U.S. Plans Co-ordinated

Authoritative sources in London today said the United States and Britain were keeping each other "fully informed" on the Far Eastern situation. These sources predicted events would develop quickly.

An Australian broadcast from Sydney, heard in New York by CBS, said Britain, the United States, the Netherlands East Indies and Australia had been fully aware of dangers threatening in the East, and "there has been the fullest consultations" on problems for defending their common interests.

Empire Opinion Opposes Delay

Qualified observers in London expressed belief that the people of Britain and the Dominions would welcome drastic counteraction in the Far East just as in Syria, and were unlikely to condone a "watchful waiting" policy by the British government while Japan strengthened her hold on Indo-China.

This belief was supported by the general acceptance of Prime Minister Churchill's declaration that whoever marches with Hitler is Britain's foe. The assumption here is that any new Japanese military adventure would have Germany's blessing. This was strengthened by comment in Berlin today indicating approval of Japan's determination to protect her interests in Indo-China.

In Washington, Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, arranged today to receive the Japanese ambassador amid increasing signs that the United States was preparing a new notice to Japan on the threat of military moves in the Pacific.

It was not disclosed whether Welles or the ambassador had requested a meeting, but all indications were that the envoy would be told plainly that American-Japanese relations would suffer further strain from any military move into French Indo-China or elsewhere.

Welles was expected to ask Admiral Nomura to clarify Japanese intentions, making it clear at the same time that the United States was vitally interested in maintenance of the peace in the Pacific.

Vichy Talks of 'Protection'

Dispatches from Vichy today said it was likely France and Japan would reach an understanding for the technical "protection" of French Indo-China by the Japanese. In this connection, it was recalled that the Japanese press had published allegations that the Chinese, the British and General Charles de Gaulle's Free French forces were preparing to invade Indo-China.

Peiping dispatches said there was a growing belief that Japan's armies in north China and Manchoukuo were in the midst of important shifts. Well-grounded reports said 20 troop-laden Japanese trains had been seen moving north in the past few days, possibly headed for the port of Chungking, where they could embark for a movement southward.

The British government took cognizance of the Indo-China crisis when Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden told Parliament today that "the government are aware of persistent reports to the effect that the Japanese government intend to take action to obtain naval and air bases in southern Indo-China."

In a written reply to a member's question Mr. Eden said:

"These reports are the more significant since they coincide with a Japanese press campaign of innuendo against Great Britain in respect of both Indo-China and Thailand."

"I welcome this opportunity to state that the alleged designs of Great Britain in both these countries are entirely non-existent."

Germans Say Japan Will Act

While Washington and London watched the situation, Berlin, too, turned an eye on developments, which might affect United States aid to Britain and China and the German radio declared:

"According to news available here, the Japanese government has learned that British aims are directed at French Indo-China."

"The Japanese government is determined to defend its interest with all the means at its disposal against such intentions. The French government is likewise believed to share this view."

Observers in Shanghai said the Japanese probably would put pressure on Thailand for a northern air base from which to bomb the Burma Road, and attempt to dam the flow of United States war materials to Chungking.

The Japanese were reported to fear United States aid might reach such proportions that Japan and the United States would be engaged in open if undeclared war on Chinese soil.

Plan Pep-up For War-weary Japs

Military experts in Washington said Japanese conquest of Indo-China would provide Tokyo with:

1. A stepping-stone for Japan's long-dreamed expansion to the south, with air and naval bases only 600 miles from Singapore.

2. A relatively easy victory for the war-weary Japanese people, along with ample stores of foodstuffs, particularly rice, to offset present shortages.

3. A diversion which the Japanese and Germans might hope would insure the United States fleet being kept in the Pacific.

2nd Moscow Raid Fails

Smolensk Still in Russian Hands, Germans Advance in Far North

Canadian and Associated Press
The Moscow radio said today five German transports and a large oil tanker were sunk by Soviet bombers at an unidentified point.

A Reuter's news agency dispatch to London from Moscow said it was learned on good authority Smolensk, 230 miles west of Moscow, still was in Russian hands, despite last week's German claim it had fallen.

Authoritative sources in London said continuing German advances in the far north sector of the Russian front were indicated today.

Soviet troops, this source said, apparently had withdrawn behind the Russian-Finnish frontier and the Germans were believed making "small progress" in the Pskov sector.

It was believed in London the Germans would attempt to capture Leningrad by infiltration rather than by frontal attack.

The second successive night of Nazi aerial attacks on Moscow left scores killed and injured, but the Russians declared the raids were another setback for the Germans.

At the same time Moscow indicated German ground forces had made no progress from their new edges inside the Finnish and Ukrainian frontiers.

The Red army's midday bulletin reported stubborn battles throughout last night, said nothing significant had occurred. It indicated fighting at Petrozavodsk and Zhitomir still was indecisive.

It was estimated the Nazis used 150 planes in the Moscow raid and Russians said 10 per cent had been shot down. The Soviet communique said the raid was a fizzle.

WOUNDED SLOW DOWN GERMAN BLITZ INTO RUSSIA—A German "Kradschutz" soldier who fires machine guns from a motorcycle sidecar, is receiving hurried first aid for a wound in his back, "somewhere on the eastern front," where the Russian defenses are more than the Germans bargained for. (Radiophoto).

Moscow's 4,000,000 seemingly took the raid stoically, filing into shelters when sirens whined. Fire brigades quickly extinguished fires touched off by bombs. No military objectives were damaged. Some homes and a hospital were hit.

Berlin said the raid on Moscow was made before the fires of the previous night's raid were under control. The raid wrought "further serious destruction" on the Russian capital's military establishments, said the Nazis.

Altogether, a Moscow communique today said, 39 German planes were downed yesterday. Loss of 17 Russian planes was acknowledged. On Monday the Germans lost 87 planes on all fronts to 14 Russian aircraft destroyed, the Russians said.

The German high command claimed Russian forces fighting off German encirclement suffered "extraordinarily sanguinary losses." Gains on the Ukraine and Finnish fronts were claimed.

The high command gave more than a bare progress report, but still failed to mention specific battlefields. The communique, from Hitler's headquarters, pictured the Reds as falling back along the entire front under relentless pounding. It said of the Finnish front "operations are proceeding according to plan and ground is being gained."

DNB, German news agency, claimed Finnish and German troops had penetrated deep into Russian lines east of Lake Ladoga. It said the Red army's political commissars used artillery to prevent some wavering Russian troops from retreating and Russian losses were heavy.

German press dispatches reported destruction of 92 Russian tanks in a battle between large tank units south of Kiev.

German flame throwers and specialists in bunker destruction were reported to have taken a heavy toll of Russian troops in the forests about Polotsk, 140 miles to the rear of the Smolensk area.

"V" FOR VICTORY, "V" FOR VILTZKRIEG SIGNS IN PRAGUE—"V" Demonstration in Prague, is the Berlin-approved caption for this radioed picture showing train locomotives decorated with huge white "V's." The British propaganda's "V-for-Victory" campaign is operating on such a large scale in German-occupied countries that Germans have taken it up officially and are painting "V's" everywhere to confound the British-inspired campaign.

Sir Nevill Smyth Dies at 73

MELBOURNE, Australia (CP)—Major-Gen. Sir Nevill Smyth, 73, who won the Victoria Cross in Kitchener's victory at Khartoum, died today.

He was seriously wounded in the Battle of Khartoum. Previously, the Dongola expedition of 1896, he had won fame by riding through the retreating dervishes with a dispatch.

At the Dardanelles, Sir Nevill led his infantry brigade in the assault of the lone line position on August 6, 1915, for which he was awarded a companionate Order of the Bath and mentioned in dispatches four times.

Later, he served in France during the first Great War.

Letter From Prisoner

VANCOUVER (CP)—A letter from William Granger, taken prisoner last May while serving as wireless operator aboard a British merchant vessel, stating he is safe in a German prison camp, has been received here by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Granger.

Granger, 31, went to Britain in 1938 to join the British Marconi service as a first-class wireless operator and later signed as operator on the British merchant ship. His parents were notified three months ago that he had been taken prisoner.

Total Canadian production of explosives this year is expected to exceed the entire Canadian output during the First Great War.

Frankfort, Mannheim Bombed

R.A.F. Day Fleet Slashes Nazi Coast

LONDON (CP)—Royal Air Force bombers, too high to be seen but with a roar indicating they were in mighty force, swarmed out over the Channel today in another daylight air offensive.

The French, and possibly the Belgian and Netherlands coasts apparently were the targets of these attacks following a second straight night in which, the Air Ministry announced, the German industrial cities of Frankfurt and Mannheim were hit.

A few minutes after the day raiders had crossed in a glinting sunlight, the deep-voiced rumble of anti-aircraft guns and the crash of bombs echoed back to the British coast.

BOMBED IN STORES

The night raids far up the Rhine Valley were delivered despite severe thunderstorms, the air communiqué said.

It was the second straight night

these cities had been attacked. Other forces of British bombers struck at docks at Dunkerque, Rotterdam and Ostend, the Air Ministry announced.

All planes from these operations returned safely.

British fighters on a night of offensive patrol strafed a number of German airdromes in northern France. This night fighter activity was added to increasingly effective work by fighter patrols in daylight, which over northern France have become so formidable that large German fighter formations frequently avoid them.

British fighters escorting bombers in a raid yesterday met two large flights of Messerschmitts which veered away and refused to give battle.

FROM 10,000 FEET

"It was all very beautiful, with the Seine 10,000 feet below," said one fighter pilot. "We had an empty sky, but we don't like empty skies."

Four Messerschmitts were shot down by two Polish squadrons of the R.A.F. who came across them while escorting bombers in a raid on the shipbuilding yards at Le Trait, on the Seine west of Rouen. Bombs were seen to explode on sheds and slipways, and the targets were left hidden in smoke.

Last night German raiders confined their activity to the east and northeast coastal areas of Great Britain, injuring a few persons and causing superficial damage. (The Germans said Hull was one of the places attacked).

Bennett in Lords

Ex-Canada Prime Minister Wears Scarlet, Ermine

LONDON (CP)—In a ceremony steeped in history and pageantry, Viscount Bennett was installed as a member of the House of Lords today.

Wearing the scarlet robes of a viscount with ermine collar and gold trimmings, the former Canadian Prime Minister was introduced by Viscount Greenwood, who is the only other Canadian-born viscount in the peerage. He was the new peer's chief sponsor.

About 35 peers, including the Earl of Bessborough, former Governor-General of Canada, were in the House to greet the new member, who was elevated to a viscountcy in the King's birthday honors list.

Alice Miller, for many years Lord Bennett's secretary watched the ceremony from the visitors' gallery while Lt.-Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton, commander of the Canadian corps, and Mrs. McNaughton waited in an antechamber to greet Lord Bennett when he left.

THE BLACK ROD

Soon after Viscount Simon, Lord Chancellor, took his seat on the woolsack to mark the opening of the sitting, the ceremony began. A cry was heard from the corridors: "Way for the Black Rod. Hats off, strangers." Then a little procession began to enter the House.

First came the tall, stately figure of the Yeoman Usher of the Black Rod, dressed in black and bearing the gold-tipped wand from which he takes his name.

Immediately behind came the Garter King-at-Arms, resplendent in herald's dress with richly embroidered tabard bearing the emblems of the lions of England, the lion rampant of Scotland and the Irish harp.

Lord Bennett was preceded by Lord Greenwood and followed by Viscount Hailsham, former Lord Chancellor, a close personal friend. Both were dressed similar to the new viscount.

The procession made its way up the House and on approaching the woolsack Lord Bennett, on bended knee, presented his letters patent to Lord Simon, who had doffed his wig for the more formal black tricorn. Lord Simon handed them to a white-wigged clerk, who conducted Lord Bennett to the table of the House.

The letters patent were read in full and gave "all lords, spiritual and temporal, and other subjects whatsoever to whom these present shall come—greeting."

HEIRS, SUCCESSORS

Then it informed them of the elevation of the King's "right trusty and well-beloved councillor to the degree, style, dignity and honor of viscount" and conferring the same upon his heirs and successors.

After reading the letters patent the summons of the new viscount to attend Parliament also was read. The ancient words held peculiar significance in this time of war as the new peer was "strictly enjoined that considering the difficulties of affairs and the dangers intending, waiving all excuses, you to be personally present to treat and give us counsel in affairs aforesaid."

In a firm voice Lord Bennett then took the oath of allegiance to the King, kissed a small red Bible and signed the roll of Parliament.

Lord Bennett next was conducted to the viscounts' bench which is the front row furthest from that of the Lord Chancellor, where the opposition sits in normal times.

There, on instructions of the Garter King-at-Arms, Lord Bennett and his sponsors took seats, rose three times, and saluted Lord Simon by taking off their hats and bowing.

This done, the process once more approached the woolsack. Lord Bennett shook hands with Lord Simon and left the House.

Berlin Press Attacks Roosevelt

BERLIN (AP)—Attacks on President Roosevelt pushed the German war effort to the front pages of the entire Berlin morning press today.

Although the German air force in the past 24 hours twice raided Moscow, which had not heard the din of battle with a foreign foe since 1812, when Russia defeated Napoleon, editors gave the whole of their front pages to a rejuvenated anti-Roosevelt campaign.

The President was charged with intriguing against Germany in Bolivia. DNB, the German news and propaganda agency, claimed he was trying to bring Bolivia into the status of "colonial dependence" on the United States.

Without exception, morning newspapers also published on their front pages a picture of President Roosevelt with his sons, James, Franklin and Elliott, at a Masonic Lodge session.

According to Nazi tenets, being a Mason is almost a cardinal sin and the picture is supposed to be particularly damning evidence. As the Voelkischer Beobachter said in a two-line banner headline, "Roosevelt is the main tool of Jewish world Freemasonry."

Japanese Homes Flooded

TOKYO (AP)—Japanese rivers were swelling rapidly today and thousands of homes were flooded as the result of a typhoon that brought to a climax a week of heavy rains.

At Utsonomiya and Mito north of Tokyo floodwaters did the most damage. More than 17,000 homes of Utsonomiya and 1,800 houses at Mito were flooded.

All major railroads were reported resuming regular service today. Agricultural experts declared Japan's rice crop was not affected by the rains.

FILM STAR IS A GOB—Robert Montgomery's movie studio is learning that when a star joins the navy he's definitely lost to Hollywood for his term of service. Montgomery finished a picture just before he joined. The studio wanted to add a scene, and sent a request to the navy to borrow the star for one sequence. Montgomery, the navy replied, is on a training cruise, his whereabouts unknown. The studio will use a double for the scene, keeping his back to the camera.

West Point Drops
Envoys at Lisbon

LISBON (AP)—With a load of German and Italian diplomats expelled from the United States aboard, the United States naval transport West Point arrived in Lisbon Harbor this morning.

The West Point, formerly the America, left New York eight days ago with 500 passengers for her first trans-Atlantic trip. She will pick up American consular officials who have left Germany and Italy, on the return voyage.

As the West Point moved into the harbor, four special trains bringing United States diplomats from Germany, Italy and occupied territories were crossing Spain toward the Portuguese frontier.

Curfew at Midnight
Bewildering Camouflage, Moscow's Answer to Raids

By HENRY CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—Moscow, which just a month ago was Europe's last brightly-lighted peacetime capital, has become one of the grimmest centres of war.

All the usual paraphernalia of war—the blackouts, air raid alarms, bread cards and other rationing, mobilization—have come to Moscow, together with some especially Slavic embellishments.

A bewildering coat of camouflage has been applied to the capital. This may not be described in detail, but it can be said the city has changed its appearance radically, both from the air and especially from the air.

In wartime cities of Spain, France and Germany, I never have seen anything like it.

WATER, SAND READY
The usual sandbags and barricades have been erected around the ground floors of main buildings, and windows are criss-crossed with tape. Pails of water and heaps of sand are ready on staircases.

The Muscovites have taken to war like ducks to water.

The city's millions were steered for the first German bombing attack by half a dozen previous false alarms. The first raid was comparatively harmless. Watchers clambered to roofs, as in practice, to stand guard for bombs, and the remainder of the population filed quietly into the air raid shelters and subway stations.

During the day they clustered about sidewalk exhibitions of war posters. Many of these deal with how to act during air raids. Others show harsh caricatures of Hitler, Mussolini and Finland's Mannerheim. One of the favorite cartoons depicts Napoleon being driven out of Russia at the point of a peasant's pitchfork, with Hitler suffering similar eviction at the point of a Red army man's rifle.

MIDNIGHT CURFEW

The curfew goes into effect at midnight, and the public must keep off the streets until 4 a.m. A semblance of night life continues in the capital although public places must close at 10.45 p.m.

Theatres are reporting even less than the usual seasonal lull. Some Moscow companies have gone to the front to perform for the Red Army, but the Theatre of Satire, the Moscow Art Theatre and several others are showing regularly.

The ration system, introduced July 17, has been accepted stoically.

Coffee and other products which are rarities in western Europe still can be found in plenty in Moscow. Food rationing is applied only at state shops and covers bread, meat, fish, sugar, butter and oils. Even these still can be purchased without cards at private markets or special higher-priced stores.

Increase Bacon Restrictions
More Pork for Britain, Less for Canadian Use

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians will be eating less pork products for the next two months at least, because of a three-way government move to speed shipment of Dominion bacon to the United Kingdom.

Behind the new steps is a request of the British Ministry of Food that, if possible, the present Canada-United Kingdom contract for 425,000,000 pounds of bacon, hams and other cuts be completed by about September 15 instead of October 31 as originally scheduled.

In an effort to ensure this objective, Agriculture Minister Gardiner has made these announcements:

1. The amount of pork products, including ham and bacon, that may be distributed for Canadian consumption by exporting packers is to be reduced by 25 per cent.

2. Live hogs, dressed hogs and other edible pork products, excepting lard, may not be exported to points other than the United Kingdom and British possessions. This restriction came into effect today.

3. The price paid by the bacon board to packers for Wiltshire bacon for shipment to the United Kingdom was further advanced $1 a hundredweight, effective from the opening of livestock markets today.

BOOST PRICE

This raises the price for Grade A, No. 1 sizeable Wiltshires to $19.60 a hundredweight, compared with a price of $16.10 under the original 1940-41 contract with Britain.

The reduction in the amount of pork products available for sale in Canada is the second time such action has been taken under the War Measures Act.

The first, last May, limited to the weekly average of last year the amount of pork products on the Canadian market, and at that time a spokesman for the bacon board said: "If we find it necessary to take over all the ham and bacon in Canada to meet Britain's request (for more bacon) we will not hesitate to do it."

Subsequently the board issued an appeal to Canadians to eat less pork, but apparently the voluntary curtailment in pork purchases was insufficient to meet the increased British requirements.

"On the completion of the present agreement for 425,000,000 pounds of bacon, hams and other cuts on September 15, 1941, it is anticipated the agreement, for the following 12 months will call for the delivery by Canada of 600,000,000 pounds of bacon, ham and other cuts," Mr. Gardiner said.

"The larger order will necessitate substantial increase in the Canadian production of hogs."

Sawflies Ruin
Big Wheat Areas

LETHBRIDGE, Alta. (CP)—Dr. C. W. Farstad of the Dominion entomological laboratory here said today after a 4,000-mile inspection trip that some areas in Alberta and Saskatchewan are "so severely infested" with wheat stem sawflies "that the only way to defeat the pest seems to be to grow crops which are not attacked by sawflies."

Dr. Farstad, terming the wheat stem sawfly situation "very grave" with approximately 25 per cent of the prairies' 17,000,000 acres of wheat "severely infested," urged an increase in barley, oats and flax acreage or regressing with crested wheat grass.

Stating that over wide areas damage of 20 to 100 per cent can be expected, Dr. Farstad said nothing can prevent loss of millions of bushels of wheat this year, but that in future years the infestation can be defeated through widespread co-operation of farmers and agricultural experts. This year, however, "many fields in certain areas will be completely flattened by sawfly devastation."

Russia Will Win Believes Paish

SIR GEORGE PAISH, British economist, in Montreal: "I am convinced that out of her suffering Russia will arise and that she will deserve and enjoy the friendship and regard of the world which she is now helping to preserve from slavery and unparalleled distress and disaster. It may be that the friendship of the British and American peoples for the Russian people in place of the false friendship of the German people will cause the Russian government and the Russian people again to realize that the Great Father of mankind does exist and that He is deeply concerned in the welfare of the Russian people."

Sir George said "there are good grounds for hoping Russia will succeed not only in holding up, but eventually in defeating the forces of Germany with the assistance of Great Britain, the British Dominions and of the United States."

"It can be said Russia is the one nation in Europe that has been fearing invasion for several years and has had time to place itself in a strong defensive position, that Russian occupation of a part of Poland, the Baltic states and Bessarabia was not due to any plans of conquest, but her desire to strengthen her defensive position and to have an outer line of defence which would delay the armies of Germany and give the Russian army time to mobilize its full strength on Russia's former frontier."

Shocked at Waste

E. E. SOUBRY, director of trade for the British petroleum board, said in Ottawa since his arrival on this continent he has been most surprised by the "tremendous amount of food and the brilliant lights."

"There is as much butter left over on hotel plates in the United States, Canada, and even Portugal, as we get in the United Kingdom under rationing," he said.

He said the day war was declared all gasoline and oil companies in Britain amalgamated and all trade names were destroyed, as a move to conserve tanker space. Then came rationing. "The policing of the rationing law was performed by the people themselves," he said.

"People stopped pleasure drivers. As for taking children for a pleasure outing in a car, that definitely just was not done."

TALL, DIGNIFIED VISCOUNT HALIFAX, ambassador from Britain, loses some of his unbending dignity when he passes under the low wing of a Lockheed-Hudson bomber on his visit to southern California to attend ceremonies accepting the company's 1,000th bomber for Britain.

'Look Inside Germany'

LORD HALIFAX, British ambassador to the United States, broke into a wide smile and enthusiastically gave Great Britain's thumbs-up salute in Santa Monica as he watched 10 Douglas DB-7 dive bombers—intended for his country's use as "havocs"—perform in his honor.

The ambassador, on a tour of west coast defence plants, told 8,000 Douglas workers: "Germany has achieved many successes, yet our advices show

'Governor-generalities'

The EARL OF ATHLONE assured a group of United States journalists the free peoples of the world will "utterly destroy" the enemy, laying the foundation for a "great new world of peace and happiness and the joy of young life." He paid warm tribute to the "high standard of responsibility" displayed by the press of Canada and the United States, and expressed gratitude for the "unfailing courtesy" evident in "all my contacts with the members of your honorable profession."

He said that before he came to Canada he was nervous about North American journalists.

"I had heard all sorts of stories about how they could make or mar the career of any public person," he said.

All the stories he found to be "grossly exaggerated." He could not have wished for "greater kindness or consideration" than the press had displayed.

Lord Athlone drew a chuckle when he said there were many restrictions on what he could say in public, and, for this reason, "I have decided to confine myself to what might be called governor generalities."

'Our Peril Greater'

GENERAL JOHN McAULEY PALMER, retired, told the U.S. Senate military committee it was his opinion Hitler, in order to accomplish his aims, must "conquer or encircle the United States."

"In my opinion," said Palmer, a former assistant chief of staff under Gen. John J. Pershing, "our peril is greater than it ever has been in our history. All of the forces of Nazism are deployed against us."

heard the men's appeals ruled against their release.

The committee reported the men had asserted their future beliefs and actions would be guided by the fact Germany attacked Russia and they therefore would endeavor to assist Russia. This would involve support of any Australian efforts toward that objective, according to the interned men.

Suggestion by counsel for the men that the war effort would be served by their clients' release was rejected by the committee which found the men's views, as set out in documents formerly in their possession, were unaltered.

The government, Mr. Menzies said, could not take the risk of endangering the country's war activities by accepting assurances of citizens who professed to change their minds with such facility.

"Even now it is apparent these men have no sense of duty to their own country or the cause for which the country was fighting and its sons dying," he concluded.

Pacific War Nearing?

UNLESS ALL THE RUMORS COMING out of the Orient, from Vichy, and from the usually "well-informed" sources in various capitals are entirely groundless, the next few hours or days should reveal Japan's real intentions. It is clear that Germany is applying pressure on the Petain government to pave the way for a deal between Tokyo and Indo-China; some authorities suggest Vichy will eventually agree to the occupation of the key cities of the area on which the bright light is now shining, with the proviso that the Japanese "guarantee of integrity of Indo-China frontiers" given when hostilities between that country and Thailand subsided shall be effective. Such a "token" objection as this procedure may imply, however, would be merely to create an interlude during which the Tokyo government would proceed to complete its plans for an active southern Pacific drive at the rich Netherlands East Indies and at Britain's strategic Singapore naval base. Whether the Petain administration is about to capitulate to Berlin's pressure, whether the aged Marshal will find a means of temporizing, or whether, in the event of further delay to Japanese schemes—that evidently are ready for launching—Tokyo will order occupational operations, remain matters for conjecture. The ditty about an imminent British-Free French-Chinese invasion of the territory which Japan covets will fool nobody; it is typically Goebbelsian.

To say that the whole atmosphere is becoming more explosive is to understate the case. The large question mark has resolved itself into an inquiry as to what joint or individual action Great Britain and the United States would take if Vichy should concur, no matter how grudgingly, with a Japanese move that could mean only an initial challenge to both British and American interests in the South Pacific—assuming, of course, the occupation of Indo-China is the only part of Nippon's program of a "New Order" for Asia the Konohe government is ready to try to put into effect at his stage. Both Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt are obviously doing a great deal more thinking than they are prepared to translate into vocal pronouncements. There is nothing to indicate either is in the mood to give Japan the least cause to level the charge of aggression at Whitehall or at the White House. But it is likewise clear to the public of the two great English-speaking commonwealths that the men of Tokyo are seriously contemplating action calculated to produce a condition—that of getting there first—which the present war has reproduced so many times in the last 21½ months. Nor is it by any means clear how either Britain or the United States, or both, can do other than they must be doing unless they are to be assailed for staging the preliminaries for a new war on which neither is keen for the time being; at least, not until further dispositions of their respective strengths have been carried out. But the answer to many of these questions should be forthcoming before the world is much older.

Von Papen Worried?

THERE IS A REPORT FROM ANKARA that German ambassador Franz von Papen is very much perturbed by the pact between Britain and Russia under which neither will make peace with the Reich unless a common agreement has been reached; and the wily Franz is supposed to have told a Turkish official "disgritely" the British government "should have known that Germany was ready to propose peace on terms of a gentlemanly agreement as soon as Russia was crushed." Said one diplomat on this point: "It sounds like him. There is scarcely an ambassador or minister of a neutral country in Ankara who has not been collared by Von Papen and told it was that country's God-given mission to intercede for a peace between Germany and England; he's obsessed with the idea."

When a German talks about a "gentlemanly agreement" it is enough to make a cat laugh; amicable relations with the Reich are about as enjoyable as the embrace of a boconstrictor. What will intrigue most people, of course, is the play which Nazi spokesmen are making on "when Russia is crushed"—a case of counting chickens before they are hatched with a vengeance. Irrespective of the progress of the campaign against the might of the Soviet Union, however, if the German people expect Britain to parley with the gangsters of Berlin, they are in for a sad awakening. Prime Minister Churchill and Foreign Minister Eden—like-wise Ambassador Lord Halifax in San Francisco the other day—have made it abundantly plain that peace will be considered only when Hitlerism is in the predicament which Nazi wishful thinkers would have the world believe is the early fate in store for Russia. And that attitude is evidently concurred in by the President of the United States and his colleagues at Washington.

Life is either a gambol or a gamble, depending on the way you play it.

Consulting the People

BRITISH COLUMBIA'S 19TH LEGISLATURE has been dissolved and Mr. Pattullo has announced that the people of the province will go to the polls next October—probably in the second or third week of that month. In a straightforward manifesto published in this newspaper yesterday the Premier explains that he has called a general election this year, instead of postponing it until his government has run its full constitutional term, because it is necessary to pass legislation to give effect to the financial and other collaborative arrangements entered into between the province and the Dominion authorities—matters, of course, of basic import to the nation's war effort and British Columbia's contribution to the Empire's cause. One sentence of his statement sums up the desirability of the course on which he has decided:

"The matter is of such importance that I feel the government should have an expression of the wishes of the electors."

No leader of a government goes wrong when he consults the people whose servant he is. Trouble begins when the electors are treated as if they were children in arms—as if a heaven-sent dispensation existed to direct their thoughts and determine their actions. No Liberal administration would last long in this or any other British country which assumed even the mildest form of authoritarian rule. And Mr. Pattullo alludes in broad terms to three specific tasks which confront his government:

"1. To do all possible to assist in war effort.
"2. To keep the home front functioning as adequately as war effort will permit.
"3. To bear in mind postwar problems and act in relation thereto as far as items one and two permit."

We have already said in these columns that there is no earthly reason why the present government should have any qualms about the verdict the people of British Columbia will render next October. Its general record since Mr. Pattullo became Premier in 1933 has been uniformly good. It has made mistakes; so has every government in the world. It has been criticized on numerous occasions; this newspaper, in the performance of its duty, has joined in some of that criticism. It may have to do so again. But the perfect government is still in the womb of this imperfect world; the millennium is far off.

If we felt like issuing an injunction at this stage, however, it would take the form of a reminder to the people of British Columbia of what they did in the summer of 1928. The cry went forth that "it is time for a change." Notwithstanding the fact that they had been governed efficiently for nearly 12 years, that general conditions, social and economic, were excellent, they substituted men untried in office for a ministry which had rendered good service. They rectified their mistake when the first opportunity presented itself—after the Conservative government of 1928-1933 had exceeded its constitutional term. But the record of the Tolmie regime is still fresh in the minds of the electors. Intelligent mortals seldom make the same mistake twice.

Really Scared Now

BERLIN'S NEWSPAPERS TODAY HAVE used their front pages to attack Mr. Roosevelt—complete with pictures of the chief executive and his two sons in their regalia as Freemasons. This "discovery" that the President belongs to the ancient craft seems to be a new excuse for his vilification, since the Order, of course, is now banned in all totalitarian countries where its teachings of right living and truth are anathema to the megalomaniacs who hope to survive through rule by force and torture. But why all the hullabaloo about this sudden revelation that Mr. Roosevelt is a mason? All the gangsters of Berlin had to do to find this out was to look in any Who's Who to learn that he has attained the 32nd Degree in the Order, and that others of his cabinet are fellow travelers. But this is not the reason for the intensified attack on the President of the United States. Hitler and his crowd now know that 130,000,000 Americans do not intend to permit Hitlerism to live one day longer than it takes to kill it. This is the truth that is worrying the man who said not long ago that no aid to Britain the Lease-Lend Act would make available would reach the island fortress in time.

WAGE INCREASE CONTROL

From Toronto Saturday Night
We find it a little surprising that these elements of the community which have been shouting most earnestly for the conscription of capital as a necessary concomitant to the conscription of military service are silent upon the subject of the conscription of labor. If we admit, as most of us surely do, the absolute necessity for preventing all kinds of profiteering out of the war, it follows that the profiteering of those classes of labor which happen to be in a position to tie up the national war effort if their demands are not granted is just as dangerous as that of the owners of plant and equipment and liquid capital which are needed for that same effort.

A very large measure of control is now in effect over all forms of capital, including taxation devices which leave only the minimum share of all unusual profits for the owner—a share so small as to fall short in many cases of counterbalancing the inevitable risks of business. The only control in effect over labor is the principle limiting wage increases to a bonus based on the ascertained rise in the cost of living. It is to be hoped that public opinion will back every effort of the government to enforce this control as effectively as the rest of its measures for maintaining justice as between the different classes and groups of the population in these difficult times.

OLD SCHOOL TIE

INTO NEW YORK the other day breezed Colonel Josiah Wedgwood, a member of the British Parliament. To the New York Mirror, according to its reporter, this eminent statesman suggested that Senator Wheeler should "go soak his head," and he demanded: "Who is he anyway? He's from Montana, I understand, but what nationality was he originally?"

A lot of us would like to see Senator Wheeler go soak his head. It doubtless would do him good. But we have the sense here to understand that it is by nationality an American and that the Americans are attached to their political institutions, which they constructed with some difficulty with the aid of a stupid British King. They do not like obscure members of the British Parliament insulting their senate, which holds the final power over the foreign policy of the nation. Even if the Americans as a whole do not like Wheeler, they still respect the democratic process which elected him and guarantees him the right to speak as he desires; which apparently Wedgwood understands so little that he descends to tawdry abuse, cheap sarcasm and the toplofty haw-haw of some Englishmen who would have wrecked the Empire long ago, if they had ever controlled it.

WHY SHOULD THEY?

WE NEED NOT PAUSE long to worry about Wedgwood, whose intelligence has been strangled long ago by his Old School Tie, but we might well consider the instinct which speaks in him. It is the instinct of superiority which a few British people (in Canada as well as Britain) feel towards the Americans. There is among us, even here, a kind of condescension which admits their political and economic equality but cannot quite admit their social equality, because their manners and customs are different from ours.

We have always expected the Americans to be entirely like us. Why should they be? We do not expect other nations to be entirely like us. We expect them to have different manners and are rather charmed when a Chinaman eats with a chopstick, while we are horrified if an American should lay his fork down in a different way from ours, though it may be just as good a way.

We shall never get on completely with the Americans until we recognize that they are a different people from us, and not British either by blood or institutions or manners. We shall never fully understand the future problems of our Empire and its future until we realize that Canada is only half Anglo-Saxon in origin and belongs to the Empire for the very best reason of all, because it wants to, and sees the advantage of belonging, both for itself and the world.

RELICS

MEN LIKE Mr. Churchill have understood that long ago—he best of all, from his American blood. But there are still a few incredible relics walking about our Empire, as if they were alive, who died at Yorktown with Cornwallis. They have no real importance. We do not listen to them in the British nations. None of our governments pay the least attention to them and the public regards them with the same amusement that you derive from any historical curiosity. Yet such fellows, with mischievous influences to promote them, can do a great deal of harm, out of all proportion to their importance and power. Colonel Wedgwood can be made by our enemies in the United States to appear almost like the Voice of England, can undo months of work by British diplomats and men of good will and can influence millions of minds which have never seen England or English people at home.

The wise American knows better. He knows that if the Colonel Blimp controlled England, the country would have died long ago, and the free overseas nations of the Empire would have got out. But the great mass of the English people are inarticulate, unknown, are only being discovered in the agony of this war. It is unfortunate that one man who misrepresents them so completely should give their enemies in the U.S. Senate an opportunity to misrepresent them further, and throw more monkey wrenches into the only machinery which offers us any prospect of peace and security in the world of the future.

Colonel Blimp Wedgwood is the one who should go soak his head—in the far side of the Atlantic.

THE CANDID CANDIDATE

From Comox Argus

Lying back in his deck chair on his lawn at Saanich, Bruce Hutchison has sunk into a mood of gentle irony. Out of it has come a picture of the Candid Candidate who would tell the electors just what he could and would do if he were returned to office. "This candidate," he writes, "would advocate economy in general but never in detail. He would befriend the poor and trust that campaign funds would never dry up. . . . You may count on me to increase the provincial debt. Everybody else has and I guess I can as well as the other fellow."

And Bruce, with his tongue in his cheek, believes that such a candidate would get a lot of votes. He knows better. Certainly the younger generations are not so susceptible to the usual blandishments of the political orator as their fathers were and are, but soft soap still catches a lot of flies.

No, dear Bruce, no. The candid candidate cannot come into his own yet no more than the weekly newspaper could produce one candid newspaper. Human nature cannot bear such a large dose of truth. No candidate, no newspaperman could tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth; we are all so full of cussedness that we cannot stand that blinding light.

QUEBEC ENLISTMENTS

ANY HOPE that there might have been that Premier Godbout of Quebec would throw his weight on the side of conscription was rudely shattered by the speech at Riviere du Loup. The Quebec chieftain left no doubt of his intention to continue opposition to the plan for compulsory service.

It is the right of anyone in Canada—high or low—to be for or against conscription, or any other proposal of national policy. But it is not the right of anyone to distort the facts. In the past few months there has been a coast-to-coast disposition in Canada to flatter Quebec's war effort to a fatuous point which was certain sooner or later to cause harmful reactions. This has proceeded step by step until the suggestion is now openly made that Quebec leads all Canada. This is, of course, a gross distortion of the facts.

"Let the rest of the country do as well as Quebec in voluntary enlistment and we will win the war. We were ahead as far as the Victory Loan was concerned and we are ahead in voluntary enlistments." So says Premier Godbout.

In the recent recruiting campaign Quebec City ranked second highest in Canada in results obtained. Montreal, on the other hand, ranked second lowest. But the quotas for the various districts were not based on fit manpower available. They were based chiefly on the need for replacements in the units already mobilized in the districts concerned.

French Canada has done very well in this war, especially in comparison with the last one. No French Canadian has any reason to feel anything but pride at what has been done. But it can only result in harm in exaggerating the extent of what has been done, in untrue comparison with the contribution of other parts of Canada.

THE FIGURES

For the past few months the Department of Defence has refused requests for detailed figures showing the total enlistments by provinces in the three armed services. But they were made available up till October 31, 1940. At that time the total number on active service totaled just under the 200,000 mark, whereas

GIVE THE SOLDIER

BOY A LIFT

From San Francisco Chronicle

Soldiers in uniform may not thumb rides but they can accept invitations to a lift. This reminder brought to attention by two soldiers, whose letter appeared in our Safety Valve, is something for motorists to bear in mind. We have urged drivers, with reason bred of experience, to beware of picking up hitch hikers indiscriminately. But this does not apply to soldiers, servants of the government under discipline and identified by their uniforms. When a soldier is trudging along the road and a civilian whizzes by in his automobile, it is plain decency to stop and give the soldier boy a lift. He is one of his country's defenders, he hasn't a lot of spending money, and he gets enough hiking on his job. Think it over, Mr. Motorist!

IMPRESSIVE RECORD

From Metropolitan Life Bulletin

Canada has practically eradicated smallpox. In the nine provinces of Canada no deaths from smallpox were reported in 1940, and only 11 cases. Even more impressive is the record for 87 Canadian cities, in which there was not even a case reported.

Pacific War Sure, Says Admiral Yarnell

The U.S., with the help of the British Empire, China and the Dutch East Indies, can defeat Japan if it prepares for war immediately and fights an offensive campaign, Adm. H. E. Yarnell, retired, former commander-in-chief of the Asiatic Fleet, says in an article written for American Defense, Harvard Group. He writes:

"U.S. participation in the war against Germany is merely a matter of time, and we should recognize the fact that this will involve us in war with Japan."

"Six factors would operate in this country's favor in a Pacific war. We would have at our disposal the Singapore base and harbors in Malaya, the Philippines and the Dutch East Indies; we would have Dutch and British help, and China would hold 1,000,000 Japanese troops; all of Japan's seaborne commerce, except with Manchuria and North China, would end; Japanese bases in Formosa would be within bombing range of the Philippines, and China could be given military aid and could intensify her operations."

"If we should take the necessary steps to strengthen our naval and air forces promptly and adequately, it might deter Japan from undertaking what would be for her a dangerous campaign, and if it did not, we would be in a far better position to meet any hostile move."

"We have a powerful navy today; it is more powerful, relatively, than it will be in 1946, if Germany wins in Europe and Japan wins in the Far East. This navy of ours is strong enough to carry on a two-ocean war today, with Great Britain undefeated."

It ought to be a jolt to our self-respect to observe the average man. His waistline is one of our first lines of defence—Dr. Victor G. Heiser, physician and writer.

"The way to succeed, the way to keep in business in any country in South America is to emphasize more in the future than in the past that we belong to the country. . . . In a foreign country, we become South Americans, and as such we do business. We must become a part of the country in every sense of the word and the people in that country must be partners and the government must have a more direct interest in the business than they had in the past when we were doing business from New York, and we were Yankees from the United States."—President W. S. Farish Standard Oil.

Water Pressure To Be Increased

Residents of the higher area of Gordon Head will be provided with greater water pressure through installation of a pump at Tyndall and San Juan Avenues, the Saanich Council decided last night.

The pump will be operated by a seven and a half horsepower motor. Cost of the pump, motor and attachments will be approximately $550, H. H. Allen, municipal engineer, reported. Mr. Allen said a test conducted with the fire-engine pump showed that the pressure could be increased by 25 pounds under some conditions.

Mr. Allen also outlined a plan for alternate sprinkling days in the municipality which the council believed might improve the supply of water for irrigation purposes. On Mondays residents of Gordon Head and Wilkeson Road would be allowed to use water for irrigation and on Tuesdays the central section of the municipality would have this right. The watering days would alternate throughout the week except Sunday, which would be an unrestricted day.

Several Gordon Head residents attended the council meeting to question members on the shortage of water. Reeve L. H. Passmore declared it was untrue that the council was creating water difficulties in Gordon Head to force people to vote for a well system by-law on September 20.

"We are doing everything we can to get more water to you under the present system," he said.

Voters may be asked at the next general election in Saanich to decide on a municipal garbage collection system. Such a system would require two trucks and nine men, it was estimated by William Fanthorpe, in charge of garbage collection, and would cost approximately $17,555 a year with service restricted to the water area of the municipality.

The council received a letter from the city of Victoria concerning a complaint from Mrs. W. Mober, Alpha Terrace, on alleged sewer drainage from Saanich to Burnside Road and Alpha Terrace. It was decided to inform Mrs. Mober that Saanich had asked the city several months ago to allow Saanich residents on Burnside Road to connect their houses with the city sewer.

A delegation interviewed councillors on the proposed zoning by-law for the water area of Saanich, which would set minimum floor space to 600 square feet for all houses in certain sections and 800 or 1,000 square feet in other sections deemed of better class.

The council received a letter from Dr. J. A. Pearce of the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory thanking the municipality for the help of its fire department in fighting a fire on Little Saanich Mountain.

Action was deferred with regard to a proposed diversion of Marine Drive in the event that one or more wells at Cordova Bay could be connected with the present water system. The diversion would cost about $3,000, it was estimated, and would follow the old C.N.R. track.

English Children Forget Lights

Britain has been blacked out at night so long that some children have forgotten what street lights are, according to a letter from Mrs. J. Gilbert of Croydon.

Mrs. Gilbert's two elder sons, Richard, nine, and Phillip, six, are living with a cousin, Mrs. A. W. Bayles, at Langford Lake, for the duration of the war.

Mrs. Gilbert wrote that she was "very astounded and quite shocked" when her three-year-old son, Donald, pointed to a street light and asked her what it was for.

With the Forces

RETURNS HERE FROM LONDON

Major A. E. Routier, Royal Canadian Artillery, formerly a member of the Canadian military headquarters staff in London, has returned to his duties as commandant, coast defence and light anti-aircraft, at training centre of Military District No. 11.

Major Routier was recalled to Canada after spending some time overseas, where he arrived with eight other officers in November, 1939, to establish headquarters, in London.

He served in the Second Canadian Division Artillery in the Great War. In 1933 he was appointed gunnery instructor, Pacific coast, with headquarters in Esquimalt. In 1936 Major Routier was transferred to Kingston, and just before the outbreak of war was appointed officer commanding the 5th Heavy Battery, R.C.A., and fire commander, Esquimalt, to which station he was to proceed in September, 1939. When war was declared all station transfers were cancelled, but Major Routier went to Prince Rupert to supervise the opening and mounting of this new coast defence station.

Two drab army motor trucks started early yesterday on a long swing through the southern interior of the province to enlist tradesmen specialists for Canada's fast-growing fighting forces.

The group is the brain-child of Lieut. J. A. Mackey, R.C.O.C., and comprises a complete mobile recruiting and trade-testing unit. At all major centres in the southern interior the unit will seek enlistment of men skilled in mechanical trades and applicants will be tested and enlisted at once without the necessity of a long journey to the coast.

In the mobile workshop are motors, electric drills, electro acetylene welding equipment, a gasoline motor, and a testing work bench at which applicants will be allowed to prove their skill.

With Lieut. Mackey are Sgt. Major J. M. Laird and two private soldiers trained by the Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps. At each halt recruiting specialists will meet the mobile workshop to enlist applicants. The itinerary includes Kamloops, Vernon, Penticton, Princeton, Trail, Nelson and Cranbrook.

Butterfly vs. Thistle
The painted lady butterfly owes its wide distribution to the fact that it thrives on a plant which has been most successful in gaining a foothold throughout the world. This is the thistle, whose seeds travel 1,000 miles or more.

About 200 people attended the recent dance for the Three Services at the Shrine Hall. Novelty dances and refreshments were features of the evening. The next dance, on August 4, will begin at 9 p.m.

Summer program activities are open to all employed girls and opportunity is given for strangers to become acquainted. An attractive folder is available at the Y.W.C.A., outlining each week's event.

The garden party, under the auspices of Lodge Princess Alexandra, Daughters of England, to be held at the home of Mrs. Rutherford, Shakespeare Street, tomorrow has been postponed until Thursday, July 31, owing to the death of a member, Mrs. Amelia Jaycocks.

Says Politics High Calling; Public Apathy Scored

Politics is a high calling and should be treated as such, both by those elected to serve the public and by the public themselves, in the opinion of Professor E. S. Farr, expressed during the course of his address on "Democracy and the Kingdom of Heaven," last night at the Memorial Hall. Major Cuthbert Holmes presided.

Mr. Farr, who was the speaker in the second of the series of lectures arranged by the Guild of Friendship, criticized the public apathy and indifference towards politics. The franchise had been dearly bought and should be valued more highly than ever in these days when men and women were everywhere fighting to preserve their political and economic freedom, and the speaker suggested that citizens should go gladly to exercise their franchise which, after all, was one way to pool political ideas and bring about needed reforms.

MANY NOSTRUMS

Prefacing his address with a review of the economic history of the 19th century, Mr. Farr touched upon some of the nostrums suggested by students of economics to remedy the problems of production and distribution. Among the former were stabilization of industry, work sharing, reduction of the working day and the working week, extension of foreign trade, and curtailment of employment of the old and young, and among the latter were the "ham-and-egg" movement started in California, the "25 every Thursday," the Townsend plan, the Technocrats and the Social Crediters. All these things, thought the speaker, were symptoms rather than cures. Among the more carefully considered remedies he named public works planning, quinquennial budgets, national control of banking and credit, insurance of various kinds, education and better distribution of information to both labor and capital on such matters as "jobs," cost accounting, and a greater place for the voice of labor in industry.

In conclusion he suggested that the democratic system might break down altogether unless mankind underwent a change of heart and exercised their charity and intelligence to the end that nations might live as friendly neighbors.

Women Eager to Serve Overseas

MONTREAL (CP)—Miss Janet Carruthers, who opened an office here this week to recruit Montreal women for service in the mechanized transport corps in England, today said she was "very encouraged" by the response. More than 20 women applied to her for positions in the service in the first day of recruiting yesterday, she said. Women who enlist have to be able to pay their own way to England and maintain themselves overseas.

ESQUIMALT UNIT

Mrs. Baugh-Allen presided at the monthly meeting of the Esquimalt Red Cross unit held on Monday. Owing to the indisposition of Mrs. Jones, secretarial duties were carried out by Mrs. Reid. Twenty members were present. Tea was served at the close by Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Dennison. Mrs. Hopwood reported that the Lampson Street School children made eight large and three small afghans, which were deeply appreciated by air raid victims in England.

'Most Valuable Britisher' In States Is a Woman

Hard-working Craig McGeachy — "most valuable Britisher in America" — as Chief of the Ministry of Economic War. She is well known in Victoria.

Miss Mary Craig McGeachy who visited Victoria several years ago and spoke to a number of women's organizations here, is now filling an important post in Washington, D.C., where she is known as "the most valuable Britisher in America," according to a recent article written by Eleanor Ragsdale, noted Washington presswoman. The article follows:

They call Craig McGeachy (ma-geeky) "the most valuable Britisher in America." A smiling, attractive young woman of Canadian birth, she's the Information Chief of the British Ministry of Economic War, and is attached to the British Embassy to answer press queries on that knotty subject.

Actually her most vital work for the British cause is done through her personal contact with innumerable women's organizations all over America.

One very significant result which has been attributed to Craig McGeachy's personal efforts is the fact that no large women's organization has come out with an endorsement of Mr. Hoover's relief program, though Hoover has been the humanitarian's patron saint ever since the "starving Belgians" of World War I.

WAS IN GENEVA

The background for Miss McGeachy's wide acquaintance with women the world over was laid in Geneva several years ago. There she was an active member of the League of Nations secretariat, working on nutrition, standards of living and refugees, and later becoming liaison officer between the League and private international organizations. Among these was the International Organization of Women, which provided a splendid springboard for leaping into the complex sea of women's clubs in the United States.

Craig McGeachy explains very lucidly and concisely what Great Britain means by "economic war." "We are primarily interested in the attack when we wage economic war," she explains. "We want to deprive the enemy of food, raw materials, military equipment."

"Pre-emptive buying to keep supplies from the enemy, bombing of factories and disruption of rail communications are our main means of attack, plus the Atlantic blockade." She further stresses the efforts of Britain to stop leaks of materials to the Axis via Pacific routes, from Latin America especially.

The outbreak of the Russo-German conflict has momentarily lessened that source of concern, since, as Miss McGeachy points out, the bulk of "back-door" Axis supplies reached Germany via the Soviet Trans-Siberian railway. But in the whole Pacific area, she maintains, Britain could really do nothing about cutting off undesirable trade.

"There is where we need and will need American help badly," she declares.

DOESN'T PULL PUNCHES

Craig McGeachy doesn't pull punches, although she may soften her glove with diplomatic padding. She comes right out and says that she's against any relief plans, whether food or otherwise, which are intended to lessen the suffering of Axis-dominated countries.

In her endless round of speech-making from the Boston Women's Trade Union League meeting to the conference of American Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs in Los Angeles, she never out-and-out says "Don't back the relief plans."

But by following through the theme of total blockade to its logical conclusion, she seeks to demonstrate that even the most humanitarian aid to France or Holland or Greece only enables the Nazis to conscript more farm-workers for munitions factories, and to divert more railroad cars from produce distribution to troop transportation.

HAS "NOSE FOR NEWS"

This stand may seem harsh to some, and it is a particularly difficult one for a woman who, like Craig McGeachy, has done refugee work and knows the hard facts of nutrition and relief from her League of Nations experience.

"But one is forced to think more and more realistically these days," she explains, the smile all gone from her face. "And I am only too thankful to find Americans increasingly aware of this necessity."

Anyone who has ever been in a jam around the petite, friendly Canadian could amply testify that she is anything but a harsh and over-realistic person. Newsweek usually find her extremely kind and helpful, and endowed with a singularly sharp "nose for news." Her apartment or house, whether in Switzerland or Washington, is hospitably open to friends and officials. And the capital social whirl draws her in as often as it can catch her between flying trips and jaunts to her Canadian home, near London, Ontario.

In between, she keeps busy as a bee sounding out American sentiments on the Russo-German war, and getting in her quiet words at dinners, cocktail parties and during those intimate little chats "after the lecture" to see that American women don't get confused by the new twist on the war.

She says she would like to go back to England, and really expects to soon. With characteristic modesty she says, "You see, I'm not doing much over here."

Housewives Urged to Conserve Fruits

OTTAWA — Housewives who want to take part in the new "serve by conserving" campaign should be able to find reasonable supplies of garden and wild fruits this year, federal agriculture department officials said.

The campaign, launched on Sunday by the federal agriculture department and wartime prices and trade board, is aimed at elimination of waste of fruit and vegetables. Canadian women are being urged to see that all available supplies are gathered and preserved.

Because of drought conditions, production of small fruits has been variable, but, on the whole, strawberries and raspberries have been a fair crop, agriculture officials said, though production will not be as abundant as in 1940, a year of good general rains.

SUGAR PLENTIFUL

Weather reports as received by the agriculture department, indicate the wild fruit crop should also be "reasonably abundant," and the value of gathering all possible supplies was expected to make more vigorous than usual the search for good berry patches. On Sunday, S. R. Noble, sugar administrator, said that sugar supplies are "abundant for all preserving needs," despite wartime disruption of shipping facilities on which Canada normally depends.

Draft Minimum For Racing Bid

When Victoria resumes its negotiations for lease of the Willows Park horse racing privileges it will consider no offer below $2,000 a year, plus a quarter of 1 per cent of the total wagers, Mayor Andrew McGavin indicated today.

Those conditions have been embodied in the draft of an agreement prepared by the city solicitor. They are not final, but they do constitute a minimum, it was stated.

The racing agreement now in force terminates at the end of this year, but the city is expected to have a successor to it prior to the deadline.

Consideration of the question is expected by the City Council shortly.

Earlier this year the city called for bids for the racing rights. Two tenders only were received, one offering $100 more a year than any other bid submitted. The highest called for payment of $1,600 to the city. It was found unsatisfactory and both bids were thrown out.

Previous to submission of the tenders, another tentative offer, including considerable structural work at the Willows, had been made.

At the City Hall today it was generally felt Victoria would be better off on a straight money bid and could make its own arrangements for new structures as well as repair and renovation of stables in need of such work. With so many buildings already in the exhibition ground, the city is not particularly enthusiastic about new construction there.

Doesn't Like Pipes

A resident of Thurlow Road, Fairfield, doesn't approve of Scottish airs on the pipes at night.

The resident phoned the city police station last night complaining that a girls' pipe band practiced at the Sir James Douglas School grounds sometimes as late as 10 at night.

A constable sped to the scene and spoke to the piping lassies. They promised to find another place to practice.

Support of the city for the minority group in the B.C. Women's Ambulance Corps after the majority of local members had seceded to form their own organization, is sought in a letter to Mayor McGavin from R. Rowe Holland, solicitor for the B.C. Automobile Association, with which the original group was affiliated.

Orange Prices Up, Still No Lemons

Wholesale row announced this morning that oranges had risen 25 cents a case wholesale and that for the first time in history there wasn't a lemon to be found in any of Victoria's wholesale houses. They will return to the market on Thursday, however, at the prices in effect before last week's heat wave.

Okanagan apricots are well in season and almost over, wholesalers advising housewives to buy immediately if they intend to can the fruit this year. Another Okanagan product, Winesap apples, are almost over also.

A car of bananas was received in the city yesterday and half a car of cantaloupes this morning.

A shipment of honeydew melons and American cherries were expected this afternoon. A large shipment of grapes, the first since supplies in store ran out on Friday, was received today. A car of watermelons arrived yesterday, this relieving a shortage experienced during last week's hot days, and a shipment of Casaba melons arrived with the water fruit.

Okanagan outdoor tomatoes are now on the market as are peaches from the same source. A car of drybelt potatoes arrived this morning.

Stag Club Formed

Forty-two youths under 21 years of age have organized a Saturday Stag Club in Victoria and expect to reach a membership of 200. The first meeting was held Saturday night in the waiting room of the C.P.R. docks. Ray Wormald, originator and organizer of the S.S.C., was elected president. Jim Thomas acted as secretary-treasurer during the meeting. The object of the club is to form an organization of the youths to meet one night a week.

Silver pins with the letters S.S.C. will be worn by members of the organization. Members do not profess to be girl-haters with no girl friends to take out Saturday nights, and later may change the name to Saturday Social Club, the organizer said.

Within the next week or so, the club plans to charter buses for a midnight swim at Thetis Lake. The next meeting of the club will be held next Saturday night when the original 42 hope to take along enough friends to swell the membership to 100 or more.

Troops Bombed With Flour

Bags of flour—bombs to troops of the 13th Infantry Brigade—whistled down from low-flying planes today as the brigade marched under combat conditions from Shawnigan Lake to Quamichan Lake, en route to Nanaimo Military Camp after a visit to Victoria.

"Hostile aircraft—take cover!" was the cry each time aircraft appeared overhead, and members of the three regiments forming the brigade scrambled into the roadside underbrush. The flour-bag bombing was done by planes from the Royal Canadian Air Force station at Patricia Bay.

Advance and rear guards protected the brigade from surprise attack and ambush, while crews of camouflaged Bren gun carriers waited for attacks from the air. Troops marched in single-file sections on alternate sides of the road, with gas-guards and intercommunication troops maintaining contact between sections.

Motorists co-operated in the manoeuvre by pulling to the roadside when necessary, passing the troops slowly. Brigadier O. M. Martin, officer commanding the brigade, expressed thanks to the public for this help.

The troops were cheerful on the third day's march between Victoria and Nanaimo, whistling and singing war-time tunes. The brigade bivouacked last night at Shawnigan and is stopping tonight at Quamichan Lake. Tomorrow it will march to Ladysmith, and on Friday will arrive back at Nanaimo camp.

Seventeen members of the Mount Vernon Kiwanis Club, headed by their president, Herb Gardner, visited the local club at its luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel.

The visitors crossed to Sidney from Anacortes on board the 54-foot yacht Seafarer, and were brought to Victoria by cars of local Kiwanians.

After the luncheon, in which a program of dancing and song was given by members of the Wynne Shaw School of Dancing, the Mount Vernon Kiwanians played golf at Colwood and Oak Bay and later started out for home.

Little Diana Bradley stole the program of dancing and singing with her renditions of "My Sister and I," "Wish Me Luck" and "There'll Always Be An England." She also tap danced. Others who took part were Doreen Bull, Murray McIntosh and Gayle Webster.

At the close of the program Kiwanian Cecil Heaton introduced his brother Leonard from Winnipeg, and the two led spirited community singing.

On A.R.P. Tour

Accompanied by B.C. Police Commissioner T. W. S. Parsons and Inspector S. F. M. Moodie, chief civilian protection officer, Attorney-General Wismer will leave tonight for a tour of northern areas to promote organization of air raid precautions.

Mr. Wismer will be in Ocea Falls July 24, Stewart July 25, Prince Rupert from July 26 to 28, Terrace July 28 and Smithers July 29. Traveling by car from Smithers he will visit Endako and Prince George and possibly other points as yet undecided.

Plenty of Tea

OTTAWA (CP) — Spokesmen for the wartime prices and trade board have put at rest public concern over the possibility of a tea shortage in Canada.

"The situation is coming along satisfactorily," one official told the Canadian Press.

In a quarterly review published two weeks ago, the prices and trade board acknowledged "considerable curtailment" of normal tea imports through loss of cargoes by enemy action and through lack of shipping space.

Today it was said shipping arrangements are progressing satisfactorily.

Million to Showgirls

The New York Daily News says four showgirls are to inherit the entire estate of WILLIAM GUGGENHEIM, copper millionaire who turned to song writing at 71, under the terms of his will soon to be filed in probate court.

The news said the girls, identified as Mildred Borst, Mary Alice Rice and Florence Sullivan, all of New York City, and Lilian Andrus of Hollywood, are to "share and share alike" in the estate, valued at more than $1,000,000.

The provision concerning the widow, Mrs. Almee Steinberger Guggenheim, whom he married in 1904, and the son, included the statement that "I have made ample provision for them during my lifetime."

LONDON (CP) — Dorothy Thompson, New York columnist, who arrived in Britain yesterday, told interviewers the United States could "stand a lot more information than we get" from Britain.

VARGAS DIAMOND CUT IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK (AP) — A veteran diamond cutter has divided the fabulous Vargas diamond.

It was the first step in operations which it is hoped will reduce the 726.6 carat gem to $2,000,000 worth of cut stones.

The job was engineered by Adrian Grasely, who was left weak from the tension after striking three precision blows with a small motor axe.

He said hours were spent grooving the stone in hopes of cleaving out a 160-carat section and the third blow split the gem along its grain, as calculated.

Four or five more cuttings may be necessary to divide the diamond into the 23 stones desired.

The Vargas gem, was said to be the largest uncut diamond in existence and the fourth largest in history. Rough and blue-white, it measured 2½x2½ inch, and was heavier than the famed Jonker diamond, which yielded 12 stones, the largest 126 carats and valued at $1,000,000.

In 1938 Joaquim Evancia, farmer and diamond digger, found the Vargas stone in an arid bed of the Rio Santo Antonio near Comandante, Brazil.

It was bought by a syndicate financed by Hollandsche Unie Bank of Rio de Janeiro and sold to diamond merchant Harry Winston of New York. It was named after Vargas of Brazil.

Theatres Answer Charges in Court

VANCOUVER (CP) — Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson in police court here reserved till Thursday judgment on charges of operating a lottery laid against three Vancouver theatres and Sterling Films Ltd.

The charges resulted from "photo nites" held at three small suburban theatres, when the photograph of some person who previously had registered at one of the theatres was purchased. A final winner was to be selected by an amateur vaudeville contest on the theatres' stages.

R. L. Maitland, counsel for the theatres and the film company, maintained that no lottery was involved, and that the winner was chosen by the skill and ability of amateur contestants.

Churchill, the Master

Prime Minister Churchill, a profound student of the art of waging war, is "personally directing our action in this mightiest of all wars," RT. HON. MALCOLM MACDONALD, British High Commissioner, said in Halifax. "He is in frequent conference with his political colleagues and expert advisers; he listens to their experienced opinion; no doubt he is influenced by them—but in the end it is he personally who determines what shall be done," Mr. MacDonald said.

"The historian of the future will be able to judge whether his conduct of these vast affairs is right. "Meanwhile we know two things: First, that his experienced and able colleagues and advisers are content that the master should by himself shoulder such a gigantic share of the responsibility; and second, that for the past 12 months he has inspired and conjured the British peoples to hold at bay the whole clattering might of Nazi Germany, to throw out of joint Hitler's program of conquests, and to gain precious time to develop our own offensive which bids fair eventually to strip the tyrant of his spoils."

Canadian newsprint production was 1,062,670 tons in the first quarter of this year compared with 1,003,081 tons in the same period of 1940.

Letters to the Editor

SOLDIERS' LOST LIMBS AND MIRACLES

According to Mr. Toynbee, miracles do not come under the works of the Divine. But if he would take time to look in "any schoolboy's dictionary" he would find the following definition of miracle, a supernatural event. Supernatural as quoted from Boyle, a famous scientist: "Cures wrought by medicines are natural operations, but the miraculous ones wrought by Christ and His apostles are supernatural."

If Mr. Toynbee, as he says, did not wish to ridicule the works of the Divine, why did he use such a weak reference as Anatole France, who is a world-known atheist?

Again looking in any dictionary, he will find atheist as one who has absolutely no belief in God. That reference alone ridicules the works of the Divine.

If Mr. Toynbee, as he says, has read both sides of the question, why does he insist upon describing the miracles performed at the shrine of Our Lady of Lourdes as "supposed"? We take it for granted that Mr. Toynbee believes that Napoleon was defeated at the battle of Waterloo. Why does he believe this? Simply because it is supported by the written word of world historians. If he accepts this as a fact, why does he not understand the miracles at Lourdes, which are supported by world-famous professors of medical science, such as Dr. Alexis Carroll, carry more weight than that of Mr. Toynbee's favorite references, Anatole France and the addition of a few schoolboy limericks?

All Christians realize that there is no gain without pain. God did not take away from the soldiers of the last war the use of their limbs without reason. His reasons in many cases being that the soldiers may suffer for the love of Him and the attainment of heaven. We do not profess to know the mind of God.

nor do we question His reasons for doing things, but we live with the supernatural principle, "They will be done."

In conclusion, we wish to state we find throughout Mr. Toynbee's letters that he appears rather prejudiced. But when he finds a God-believing reference we will be even more willing, if we have not in his opinion done so already, to clear his mind of any doubt.

EVOLUTION vs. CHRISTIANITY

Quoting the sayings of prominent dead and living evolutionists does not help A. B. Sanders at all! The "fundamentalists" challenge the evolutionists to favorably compare notes with them! A "by-their-fruits-ye-shall-know-them" idea, or a comparison program of: "What hath God wrought" vs. What has evolution wrought?

What has lifted up more ruined men and women out of the depths of sin, debauchery, degradation, depravity and despair, and given them a new start in and outlook on life? Is it evolution or Christianity?

To how many martyrs for their cause can the evolutionists point in comparison with the "cloud of witnesses" and the millions of Christian martyrs for their faith?

How many copies of Darwin's "Origin of Species" have been printed and in how many languages as compared with the millions upon millions of Bibles published in more than one thousand different languages?

Which is the most freely distributed book and the best seller?

Which is the most in demand in times of trouble or on deathbeds?

What has regenerated more lives and given more hope and peace, for time and for eternity: peace, for time and foreternity: the Bible or a textbook on evolution?

What has done more good: the "finished" work of Christ on Calvary or the unfinished and still evolving work of the evolutionists? Who is the better of: the evolutionist without God and without hope in this world and in the world to come with only a man-made theory to stake his soul's eternal welfare on, or the Christian, whose Hope is Christ now and eternally?

Remember that evolution and evolutionists are always wrong, because Christ is right and that Christianity and evolution are incompatible!

Masterpieces From London Arrive

OTTAWA (CP)—Three distinguished "war guests" have arrived from England and after Wednesday will be at home to the Canadian public in the National Gallery of Canada.

They are three masterpieces which used to hang in the National Gallery in London, and they will be kept in Canada for the duration of the war.

Earliest of the three is the well-known picture of "The Graham Children" painted by William Hogarth in 1742, and it is considered one of his finest works.

The second is John Constable's "Salt Box, Hampstead Heath," painted in 1822, which is a landscape of particular charm.

The third painting is J. M. Turner's "Burial at Sea of Sir David Wilkie," dated 1884. Sir David is remembered as the artist who executed the famous "Blind Fiddler" and "Blind Man's Buff." He died aboard ship on his way home from the Far East and was buried at sea off Gibraltar.

The three pictures, part of the Masterpieces of Art exhibition recently held in Detroit, came to Ottawa through an arrangement between the National Gallery and Sir Kenneth Clark, director of London's National Gallery.

Sports Mirror

By PETE SALLAWAY

ALTHOUGH international sport has suffered severely in these days of war, the presence in Britain of sportsmen from various parts of the world has, in other cases, added to the friendly rivalry.

The interallied services football cup event was highly successful and there is now news from the Old Country that members of the Canadian and Newfoundland forces will give a touch of international rivalry to the marbles championship. It is hard to picture a big, husky Canadian soldier playing marbles.

Marbles may not be one of the premier sports, but its championship traditions go back 300 years at the Greyhound Inn, Tinsley Green, Sussex. Tinsley Green has been champions many times, but when last held the title went to a team from nearby Crawley. It is surprising how "deadly" a shot is a real marbles exponent. Killing flies on a wall, at a range of several yards, with the expert "flick" of the marble, is no rarity. The idea of the game is to knock out of a six-foot ring, marbles (commonies) with a special "blood alley," held between forefinger and thumb, each member of a team having four marbles. The expert will have no difficulty in knocking out the four of a rival with one "shoot."

The idea of baseball being played on the playing fields of Eton may cause some turning in the graves of old Etonians, but Canadian soldiers produced this state of affairs when, following a Bren Gun carrier demonstration, they remained to play a few innings. The shock of baseball has suffered severely in these days of war, the presence in Britain of sportsmen from various parts of the world has, in other cases, added to the friendly rivalry.

Many thousands of pounds have been raised for various war funds and charities and, while golf heads the list in Britain, billiards and snooker are well in the picture. Walter Lindrum, too, has been raising thousands for war funds, and he recently passed the £20,000 mark. He has been giving fantastic starts to rivals in his charity games and has, naturally, not always been able to beat the self-imposed handicap. For example, he conceded 98 in 100 to Lady Wakehurst, wife of the Governor of New South Wales. She failed to score on her first visit, as did Lindrum. Then Lady Wakehurst, who declared that she "couldn't play billiards for toffee," scored a table-length cannon and potted the red for a break of five which gave her victory by 103 points to 0.

Lindrum has also been sending the world record, under the new baulk line rule, higher and higher. In July, 1940, he set the record at 3,361, when playing against his brother Fred. Last April he made new figures of 3,735, but he has since raised the total to 3,752, an effort which took him three hours. Another record of his has been the quick-scoring one of 100 points in 38.35 seconds, beating his own previous best by 10 seconds.

Bettina Moves Along

Decisions Burman

BROOKLYN (AP)—The southpaw style of Melio Bettina was too puzzling for Red Burman to solve last night and the former light-heavyweight champion punched out a 10-round decision over the Baltimore redhead before a crowd of 10,167 in Ebbets Field. Bettina weighed 186½; Burman, 189½.

In this home ball park of the Brooklyn Dodgers, where just about everything happens, just about everything did in this tough tussle.

There was one moment, in the fourth round, when both fighters fell out of the ring. There was another, in the eighth, when Burman, unable to do anything using an orthodox stance, switched to a southpaw style and for a couple of minutes had Melio on the run.

And finally, you have the somewhat startling picture of Burman, whose chin Louis couldn't dent with his Sunday shots, twice being staggered by Bettina's left-hand pokes, which hitherto had been regarded as needing a sign to warn the unwary of high explosive content.

All in all, however, it was an important and upset triumph for the determined little Italian from Beacon, N.Y., who quit the light-heavyweight ranks a year ago to campaign among the big boys.

The Associated Press score card gave Melio eight rounds and Burman two.

Good Progress in B.C. Bowls Play

VANCOUVER (CP)—Under the impetus of fine weather and a record entry list, officials of British Columbia's 19th annual bowling tournament chalked up considerable headway with drawings yesterday.

Sixty-four games were played in the Wee Mackay doubles in 16 sections, while the Nelson rinks, Oakland doubles and Chambers singles were narrowed down to the eights in each case, as was the novice singles.

A. Lees and Bob Dalziel of Oakland won their section in the Wee Mackay doubles with four straight victories, as did Daem and J. Lowe of Revelstoke, B.C.; Robertson and Cunningham of Calgary; Brown and Griffiths of Seattle; while Sprague of Salmon Arm, B.C., paired with Mark of Bellingham to head their sections with three victories and one defeat. The other 11 leaders are all Vancouver clubs.

Survivors in the Nelson rinks are all Vancouver entries. Williams and Fletcher of Powell River, B.C., and Christie and Bell of Cumberland, B.C., are the two out-of-town pairs left in the Oakland doubles. J. Robertson of Nanaimo, S. Cramb of Powell River and J. Gavin of Cumberland remain in the Chambers singles. Gavin entered the semifinals after beating Alf Macconni of Victoria 21-15.

Jokers Just Miss Again

Bays Win Boxla 8-6

That spell of hot weather last week has passed, but as far as box lacrosse is concerned it is warmer and sultrier than ever—as proved by last night's game between the Jokers and Bays.

The latter team won by the lowest score of the year, 8 to 6, in a game which saw everything but a three-ring circus inside the miniature box. It was as wide open as Hitler's mouth at a speech-making rally, rough as the roughest yet displayed this season, it saw goal-tending on both sides that will take a lot of surpassing and at the end Ted Menzies, manager of the winners, swallowing a steady stream of water that drained a gallon jar.

A good crowd attended, 600 devotees, 500 of them rabidly pro-Joker, wending their way into the building with hopes of seeing good lacrosse and a lust for gore and fighting. They received a full course of everything.

The game started speedily with the Jokers on the offensive and the Bays a little disorganized. Clarence Uttke opened the scoring after two minutes, this being evened by Red Baker of the Bay team eight seconds later. Reg Allen retaliated a few seconds after, and the Jokers walked off the floor at the first interval, the leaders. During the first few minutes, Will Allen had his forehead cut, no stitches required.

Sergt. Douglas Bray, R.C.A., celebrated his return to the Bays after four minutes of the second quarter by tying the score, this being nullified by another army man, Johnny Minns, a few seconds later. Arnie Ferguson and Sid Anderson banged in two for the eventual winners and Uttke again tallied to leave the half-time score at 4 to 4, with matters at an extremely-heated stage during moments of the quarter.

The next period was even more devoid of scoring than those previous, Art Chapman and Red Baker getting the only two to put their team into a two-goal lead over the blackshirts. The one item of interest was a little exhibition of wrestling put on by Uttke and Anderson. The two boys got head locks on each other early in the canto, grunting and growling with finesse which would possibly make Chief Thunderbird jealous. They both got 10 minutes.

In the finale the team harvested two goals apiece, the Joker men driving like locomotives in the last few minutes in an effort to get the equalizers.

Standout of the whole battle was the performance of the goalies. Buzz Long, junior tinee guardian, fully made up for the loss of Art McKim, stopping 38 shots. He was especially effective on set-ups. Bill Andrews, barricading the Joker goal, doesn't have to take a back seat to anyone when it comes to blocking lacrosse rubber. He stopped 43 shots, and like Long, was dynamic on the set-ups.

Red Baker, Uttke and Minns all garnered a duo of counters in the abbreviated scoring parade, the remainder being solos.

In the junior preliminary a bolstered Heaney's team put up its best game of the year, being barely pushed out the back exit by Douglas Tire, 12 to 10. Brynjolfsson and Brown referred.

Keen Matches in Washington Meet

SEATTLE (AP)—A couple of hard-fought battles marked the course of men favorites in the Washington State tennis tournament yesterday but nothing like an upset showed up in a long day's play.

Fighting back on the verge of defeat, Nick Carter of San Francisco, new Pacific northwest men's singles champion, pulled out a 6-2, 4-6, 10-8 win over Harry Roche, San Francisco; and Harold Wagner, San Francisco, state title holder two years ago, was also pressed to three sets to defeat Bob Rutledge, Berkeley, Cal., 5-7, 6-0, 6-2, in second round matches. Wagner is seeded No. 2, behind Hank Prusoff, Seattle, No. 1; and Carter is rated No. 4.

Winnipeg Boy Army Track Star

SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—With the King watching some events, the 1st Canadian Division held its track and field day which saw Pte. A. C. S. Williams of Winnipeg set the pace with three individual victories and one as member of a relay team.

After presenting colors to a New Brunswick regiment and a western Canada regiment, His Majesty paid a brief visit to the sports field where every formation in the division had representatives competing in events as part of the overseas army's athletic program to keep troops fit.

Pte. Williams won the 800-yard event and went on to take the standing broad jump and the 440-yard dash and to lead the team of his western Canada infantry regiment which won the one-mile relay.

Other outstanding competitors were Pte. G. W. Grant of Winnipeg, winner of the 220-yard event and third in the century dash; Sigm. A. C. Simon of Ridgeway, Ont., first in the 100 yards and second in the running broad jump and the 220 yards, and C.S.M. R. S. Shaffner of Bridgeport, N.S., captain of the winning 440-yard relay team of a Nova Scotia infantry regiment and second in the 100 yards.

BURRARDS RALLY TO BEAT BRAVES

VANCOUVER (CP)—Superior stamina and a last period surge proved sufficient for Vancouver Burrards to bang out an 18 to 13 victory over North Shore Indians in an Inter-city Box Lacrosse League fixture here last night.

Up until the final frame it was anybody's game as the lead saw-sawed back and forth. The Braves displayed their best form in the third session and ran up a lead of 10 to 8 at the three-quarter mark.

Then it happened. Burrards scored in rapid succession and the tired Indians were no match for the fast stepping Vancouver squad.

No. 1, won handily from Elizabeth Kichhofel, Mill Valley, Cal., 6-2, 6-3, and Dorothy Head, San Francisco, No. 2, won in love sets from Suzanne McCarthy Seattle, 6-0, 6-0.

Cards Move Alongside Brooklyn

Sometimes in baseball a pitcher gets the "number" of a rival ball club and the one Atley Donald of the New York Yankees has on the Cleveland Indians has proved immensely important.

Donald is a 28-year-old southern boy who never is mentioned in the same breath with the better pitchers of the American League although in 1939 he set a major league record for rookies by winning 12 consecutive games. A sore arm stopped him and he has been a so-so pitcher ever since against everybody, that is, but the Indians.

He has won five games this year, three of them over Cleveland and twice against Bob Feller.

Yesterday he led the Yanks to a 4 to 3 decision that turned the pennant race into a virtual runaway, giving the Yanks their 35th victory in 41 contests and an eight-game grip on first place.

The sturdy right-hander held the Tribe to six hits and broke their hearts by fanning four men in the first three innings. The score wouldn't have been close except for Clarence (Soup) Campbell, a Cleveland rookie, who hit a double and a home run.

Feller, trying for his 20th victory before 45,000 fans, put up a game battle, holding the Yanks to seven hits. But six of these were bunched in the first four frames and were interspersed with walks. The blows included a homer by Joe Gordon and timely doubles by Charley Keller and Joe DiMaggio, who now has hit in five straight games since his 56-game streak was snapped.

ANOTHER KNOT

While the Yanks were blowing the lid off the American League competition, the leaders in the National League managed to tie themselves into another knot.

Brooklyn Dodgers lost a 5 to 4 decision to Cincinnati Reds in a big ninth inning rally centered around Chuck Aleno's pinch triple with the bases loaded. Bucky Walters, who had held the Dodgers to eight hits, drove in the deciding run himself and achieved his 12th victory.

It was the fifth defeat in six games for the skidding Dodgers and when the St. Louis Cardinals downed the New York Giants 7 to 6 the National League lead reverted to a tie between Brooklyn and St. Louis.

The Cards crowded six runs into the fourth inning to beat the Giants. The defeat also dropped the Giants out of third place and let in Cincinnati.

All games yesterday were won by the home teams, five of them by one run.

COAST LEAGUE

While the early season sensational Sacramento Senators continued on the skids last night the doormats of the Coast League—the Portland Beavers—kept up their surprising brand of baseball to register their fourth consecutive triumph, an 8 to 2 victory over the Seattle Rainiers.

The Beavers, to whom previously two games was a winning streak, pounded pitchers Ira Scribner and Les Webber for 13 hits while Whitey Hilcher was holding the Rainiers to six hits.

A determined San Diego team, fighting hard to supplant Sacramento as the leader, walloped the Solons 6 to 3 before 12,932 fans, the largest night game crowd in

Langford Women's Institute held its monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. W. J. Cave, Bagshot Lodge, Tuesday. Miss L. M. A. Savory presided.

Judges, conveners and stall holders for the annual flower show, August 20, were appointed. The Summer School of Christian Doctrine, conducted by the Sisters of St. Ann, held its closing exercises recently. After service in St. Richard's Church, the children with their parents drove to "Malta" on Leigh Point, Langford Lake, where luncheon was served by the Langford subdivision of the Catholic Women's League. Swimming, boating and games were enjoyed.

Woodward Resigns Ottawa Position

VANCOUVER (CP)—Col. W. C. Woodward, general assistant to Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Munitions and Supply, has resigned his Ottawa post.

Announcing the step, he said: "Actually I tendered my resignation some time ago and it was accepted. My only reason for leaving the office was that I feel I had accomplished what I set out to do."

"When I first went down to Ottawa to assist Mr. Howe," Mr. Woodward said, "Canada's war effort was still in its preliminary stages. We had a pioneering job to do and we had to build up an organization capable of directing one of the most important phases of Canada's wartime activity."

"Since then I feel that we have made very real and effective progress."

RETURNS TO BUSINESS

"With the organization completed and moving smoothly," he said, "I felt that I could be spared to return to my own business interests in western Canada; that there were plenty of capable men ready to volunteer their services and carry on in my place."

Mr. Woodward said his association with Mr. Howe and other members of the department were of the friendly kind.

Mr. Woodward, who is president of Woodward's Stores Ltd. here, went to Ottawa a few months after the outbreak of war at the invitation of the Canadian government as western Canada's representative on the war supply board. Later he became executive assistant to Mr. Howe.

Mr. Woodward's resignation was confirmed today at the Munitions Minister's office in Ottawa. A spokesman said Mr. Woodward, who served without salary, had performed a valuable service to the government in assisting in the organization and financial set-up of the vast production requirements necessitated by the war. In the future he would remain ready to assist and advise the department when necessary.

(He has been mentioned as a likely successor to Lieutenant-Governor E. W. Hamber of British Columbia, whose formal term expired some time ago and who is remaining in office pending the selection of a new incumbent.)

Ideal of Democracy

Welles States U.S. Aims For Post-war World

WASHINGTON (AP)—In an apparent attempt to drive a wedge between Hitler and the German people and to encourage eventual revolt in Nazi-conquered countries, the United States has proclaimed its post-war aims in the most definite terms yet.

Emphasizing there could be "no peace until the Hitlerite government of Germany has been finally and utterly destroyed," Sumner Welles, Acting Secretary of State, plainly addressed his words on the post-war world to the people of Nazi-controlled countries.

Millions, he said, were asking what the future held after this struggle—millions in England, in China, "millions of enslaved peoples in Norway and in the other countries now temporarily occupied, millions in the countries which have not expressed war; yes, and millions in Germany and Italy."

Fair Peace If Hitler Crushed

He then outlined the kind of world for which the United States stands—apparently a definite offer by this country to use its influence in behalf of a "fair peace" once Hitler and "the satellites who surround him" were removed.

Dedicating a cornerstone of a new wing at the Norwegian legation here last night, Welles described "the great ideal" for which he said all people of good will should now be striving.

The broad objectives he outlined bore close resemblance to some of the famous "14 points" of Woodrow Wilson which were considered a major factor in promoting peace sentiment among the German people in the First Great War.

Welles paid high tribute to Wilson and the "splendid vision which he had held up to the eyes of suffering humanity." He advocated an "association of nations"—such a league of nations as Wilson conceived but not as it finally operated, as "a means of maintaining the status quo."

Offensive Arms Would Be Ended

Welles called for abolition of "offensive armaments" and a reduction and limitation of "defensive armaments" with some rigid form of international supervision.

The other major point he stressed was equal economic enjoyment, fair access of all nations to the world's natural resources and raw materials. The League of Nations, as President Wilson conceived it, Welles said, "failed in part because of the blind selfishness of men here in the United States, as well as in other parts of the world."

(The United States senate blocked United States entry into the league in 1920.)

But he declared with emphasis that the league "failed chiefly because of the fact that it was forced to operate, by those who dominated its councils, as a means of maintaining the status quo."

"It was never able to operate,"

Welles said, "as its chief spokesman had intended, as an elastic and impartial instrument in bringing about peaceful and equitable adjustments between nations as time and circumstances prove necessary."

Welles said that "some instrumentality must unquestionably be found to achieve such adjustments when the nations of the earth again undertake the task of restoring law and order to a disastrously shaken world."

Manion at Work

OTTAWA (CP)—Back in Ottawa after making a survey of the work of auxiliary services with the armed forces overseas, Col. R. J. Manion, former leader of the National Conservative Party, now is attached to the staff of Maj.-Gen. E. W. Browne, adjutant-general, at national defence headquarters.

Dr. Manion recently submitted his report on auxiliary services to Defence Minister Ralston and it is reported he may be given another special assignment.

The S.F.C.A. draws attention to the fact that spear grass is the cause of trouble to dogs by getting between their toes and works its way up the leg. When there is any doubt, owners should seek advice.

Hon. R. B. Hanson, Conservative leader in the House of Commons, who is expected in Victoria this week, on his return from an Alaskan cruise, will be unable to address the Canadian Club because of prior engagements.

Miss Elizabeth B. Kappel and Miss Margaret M. Archer have been appointed to fill vacancies on the teaching staff of Lampson Street School, it was announced by S. A. Pomeroy, secretary of the Esquimalt School Board.

Three motorists were each fined $10 by George McGregor, J.P., in City Police Court today when they pleaded guilty to exceeding the 30 miles an hour speed limit. Seven were fined $2.50 each on parking charges.

The postponed monthly meeting of A.R.P. Wards, District 5C, Saanich, will be held July 24 at 8, in St. Martin's-in-the-Fields hall. Col. Scott, D.S.O., will be in command. All wards are expected to take along first-aid bandages.

The Christ Church Cathedral branch of the A.Y.P.A. will hold a beach party at Cadboro Bay to-night instead of a hike to Tenmile Point, as it was formerly announced. Members are asked to meet at the terminus of the No. 9 street car at 8.

Carpenters, building laborers, cooks, loggers and general laborers, seeking work, are advised to apply at the government employment bureau, Langley and Broughton Streets, which has issued a call for such men to meet growing demands in the Greater Victoria region.

The University School said today the names of three students who passed matriculation examinations were omitted from the official lists issued Monday. They were A. P. Black, G. D. Corry and E. J. Laffin. Also omitted was the name of Marguerite Hinkman of Victoria High School.

The following candidates from Mount View High School, Saanich, completed university entrance standing at the recent departmental examinations: Doris Blethman, Florence Margaret Greenwood, Margaret Jeanne Heaslip, Joyce Irma Herkes, Wilma Frances Herkes, Jean Anne MacAskill, Margaret Pilmer and Alan MacLeod Watson.

Vancouver Island Pipers' Society will be "at home" Saturday evening, commencing at 7, in the auditorium of the Britannia branch of the Canadian Legion, when all members and visiting pipers and drummers in Victoria for the Highland games will be welcomed. Pipers, drummers and officers of Highland regiments will also be guests. Capt. C. R. Wilson, president of the society, will preside.

The survey of the entire sewerage system of the Greater Victoria area is now being undertaken by Reginald Bowering, chief sanitary inspector and public health engineer of the Provincial Board of Health, the city was informed today in a letter from Dr. G. F. Amyot, provincial health officer.

The survey is being made following reception of further complaints from the city over sewage flowing from Saanich into Victoria.

"It seems to us that it would be futile to investigate a number of little complaints which, I understand, have already been under your supervision, many of which you have cleared up," the letter, addressed to Dr. Richard Felton, city health officer, said in part.

"Therefore," it continued, "we felt it wise to study the whole sewage disposal situation for the area."

Dr. Amyot foresaw continual complaints until a general plan could be devised to handle the problem. He asked that the city engineer and other officials make available to Mr. Bowering all sewer plans and data he might require and stated:

"I believe that after this survey has been completed, and when the facts elicited therein can be given to the interested bodies, perhaps some joint action can be taken that will result in permanent improvement of the difficulties outlined in the letter from the city clerk."

4,500,000 Fags Sent to Britain

More than 4,500,000 cigarettes have been shipped to B.C. men serving in Britain through the B.C. Overseas Tobacco Fund.

E. G. Rowbottom, deputy Minister of Trade and Industry, today received a wire from Acting Agent-General W. A. McAdam in London, acknowledging the receipt of another 21 shipments this month.

Plan Speed Limit To Save Gasoline

A speed limit on motorists on the open highway may be imposed in British Columbia as part of the campaign to reduce the consumption of gasoline.

Attorney-General Wismer said he was in favor of putting in a speed limit, as suggested by Deputy Oil Controller J. L. Stewart at Ottawa.

The Attorney-General said the fixing of a limit would not only help economize on gasoline but would cut down the traffic accident toll which has been soaring to new heights in this province.

Three years ago Mr. Wismer planned to put in a speed limit of 40 miles an hour during daylight and 30 miles an hour at night. Members of the Legislature from outlying districts objected, however, and the proposal was abandoned. The present 30-mile-an-hour speed limit applies only to organized municipalities.

Only restrictions on the open highways are regular penalties for dangerous driving, plus special speed limits imposed by police order on dangerous sections of the road.

Few of the other provinces have speed limits, but officials at the various capitals commented favorably on Mr. Stewart's suggestion. A change in the Motor Vehicle Act would be necessary to apply a speed limit and this cannot be done until fall.

Retail gasoline dealers in Victoria today were not able to state definitely whether the public is using less gasoline in response to Ottawa's appeal.

Most of them say there has been a slackening of sales this week, but they point out that an enormous business was done last week-end when people rushed to fill up so that total sales for the full week are about average.

First major casualty in the gas conserving campaign was reported today by Walter Harrington of Boston Bar, spokesman for a number of gasoline station proprietors on the Cariboo Highway. These stations depend on serving night-traveling trucks, but are now prohibited from selling gasoline after 7 in the evening.

Mr. Harrington said the stations face bankruptcy as a result of the closing order. The trucks carry auxiliary gas tanks to give them a nonstop run over the highway.

Sewer Survey Started Here

Victorians Pass C.A. Examinations

Three Victorians, G. F. "Pat" Dunn, Jack Melville and Jack Holden, passed the final law examinations of the Institute of Charter Accountants of B.C., according to an announcement by Richard C. Field, Victoria representative on the council of the institute today.

All three have yet to write their final accounting section examinations before securing their degrees of chartered accountant. No Victoria candidates sat for that section during June examinations.

Start Voters' Lists Middle of August

Compilation of new provincial voters' lists in Victoria, Oak Bay and Saanich will begin on August 11 in preparation for the October general election.

Appointment of enumerators to do the work was announced at the Legislative Buildings today following yesterday's dissolution of the House. There were 120 named for Victoria, 30 for Oak Bay and 60 for Saanich. The appointments are from August 11 to September 6.

Enumerators will go from house to house registering voters and will be paid 10 cents a name for each one registered. Each enumerator will have between 200 and 300 names.

In eight of the big mainland ridings new lists will be prepared in a similar manner. Altogether 240,000 of the province's 400,000 voters will be re-registered. More than 1,000 enumerators were appointed.

In Victoria and Oak Bay, as well as the big urban ridings on the mainland the coming vote will be taken in the same manner as the federal balloting, by small voting precincts. There are 100 precincts or polling divisions in Victoria and 24 in Oak Bay. Previously provincial voting has been done by the ward system here.

Victoria Leads In V Campaign

"V for Victory" is rapidly taking a grip on everyone and everything in Victoria. With the institution of the campaign in Europe, the signs have been appearing on store windows in Victoria, automobiles, doors and downtown sidewalks.

People are greeting each other on the streets with parted fore and second fingers in the shape of the letter V. At a lacrosse game last night players and spectators were giving this type of greeting all evening.

CALGARY (CP)—"V for Victory" signs are beginning to appear in Calgary. A chalked inscription was seen today on the sidewalk in front of an office building. Occupants of the building claimed they didn't know how it got there. "But I think it's a good idea," said one.

WINNIPEG (CP)—Giving as his reasons that he was English and that Prime Minister Churchill had called on British people to join the movement, John Kerr of Winnipeg has placed a V under his house number. The "V for Victory" supporter served with the Manchester Regiment in the last war.

Protests Parking On Yates Street

Parking problems, controversial issue which exercised the City Council last year, came to the fore again today with a complaint from J. Dunsmuir of Mackenzie, White and Dunsmuir Ltd., over conditions on Yates Street, between Blanshard and Quadra Streets.

Mr. Dunsmuir objected to the regulations which permitted all-day parking before the firm's store, claiming a few motorists curtailed business by monopolizing curb space.

The writer suggests half-hour parking or restrictions preventing any but customers from parking for a distance of 60 feet in front of the store.

A demolition order against premises at 825 Caledonia Avenue brought a protest today from Champion's Ltd., who stated they were using the structure to house $1,000 worth of machinery.

India paper was introduced into Europe from China about the middle of the 18th century.

Claim U.S. Seamen Fully Employed
WASHINGTON (AP)—West coast protest against employment of foreign crews on Danish vessels taken over by the government brought from the Maritime Commission a statement that there was adequate employment for United States seamen on ships flying the American flag.

Further, said a commission spokesman, a shortage of seamen was threatened.

About a dozen Danish ships have been transferred to Panamanian registry as part of the Aid-to-Britain program, he said, and other vessels also have been transferred to Panamanian registry to permit them to enter combat zones.

Under the Neutrality Act, American-flag ships cannot enter the combat zones. Likewise, American crews are forbidden to enter the combat zone.

Consequently, it was said, in order to carry supplies directly to the British Isles it is necessary not only to transfer registry from the United States, but to use foreign crews to operate the vessels.

Nurses Spent 12 Days in Open Boat

NORFOLK, Va. (AP)—The story of 12 days and 11 nights in an open boat in the North Atlantic after their ship, en route to England, had been torpedoed, was told last night by survivors landed here by a U.S. navy transport.

Four were American Red Cross nurses and the fifth a marine corporal who were picked up by an American destroyer July 5 and taken to Reykjavik, Iceland, for medical care.

Put ashore at the Norfolk Navy Yard, the group was removed to the Portsmouth naval hospital. Naval officers said at the time they were taken aboard the destroyer they were suffering from nervous exhaustion and some of gangrene.

The four nurses, members of a party of ten who sailed as the only passengers aboard the 7,000-ton vessel from New Orleans, La., June 5, were reported safe July 9.

The nurses, listed as Marion Blissett of Detroit, Mich.; Victoria Pelc of Auburn, N.Y.; Rachel St. Pierre of Boston, and Lillian M. Pesnick of Albany, N.Y., were taken in a navy ambulance to the Portsmouth naval hospital.

In a statement made to Capt. Clarence Gulbranson of the navy transport, the four nurses said the torpedo attack occurred at 7.15 a.m. June 24 without warning.

Two minutes after the first torpedo struck the port side another ripped into the vessel and the ship sank six to eight minutes later.

Traffic Resumed As Wreck Cleared

SCHREIBER, Ont. (CP)—Railway workmen today cleared wreckage and allowed traffic to proceed on the Canadian Pacific Railway's main line after two trans-continental passenger trains had collided head-on at Tripoli, 118 miles east of here, causing the death of an engineer and injury to four other railwaymen, all of Chapeau, Ont.

The trains, one en route to Vancouver and the other heading for Toronto and Montreal, met a short distance from a siding and the force of the impact derailed the eastbound locomotive, two empty baggage cars and two express cars.

Engineer Percy Buncombe, about 55, died a short time after he was pulled from wreckage of his eastbound locomotive, while his mate, Fireman John Reid, was injured, apparently not seriously.

Engineer Jack Corston was found in critical condition, while Fireman George Weedon, with Corston aboard the westbound flier, was also injured. The other railwaymen, aboard a baggage car, suffered scalp wounds. His identity was not immediately learned.

Railway officials said the westbound flier would likely arrive in Winnipeg around 1 p.m., P.D.T., today, five hours late, due to the accident.

Before the train could leave

Tripoli, wrecking crews had to remove one locomotive that had broken into two pieces and the other, which turned over on its side and lay across the rails. One baggage car also straddled the rails.

The special worktrain from Schreiber, the divisional point, carried railway officials and two doctors, one from Schreiber and another from Chapeau. Two doctors from Chapeau were reported to have gone to the scene by plane.

Engineer Buncombe is survived by a widow, a daughter, both of Chapeau, and a son, now with the Canadian army overseas.

Fear for Halibut

KETCHIKAN, Alaska (AP)—Fears were felt for safety of the Seattle halibut Faith 2nd, with three men aboard, which was drifting helpless in a storm off Cape Clear 10 days ago.

Capt. Thornevald Larsen, of the halibut Delight, Seattle, said his boat came upon a dory with four men from the Faith 2nd in it. The Faith 2nd, they said, had turned a main bearing, and they were seeking help, while three men remained on ship.

The Delight transferred them to a sealer, which put out to look out for the disabled craft. The Faith 2nd was listed here as belonging to Carl Sather, Seattle.

NOTICE TO MARINERS

Mariners are advised that the black can buoy marking Batt Rock, Ganges Harbour, has disappeared. This will be replaced at first opportunity, announces Col. A. W. R. Wilby, Agent, Department of Transport.

Capt. Douglas Has Long Sea Career

CAPT. L. D. DOUGLAS

Capt. Lionel Dale Douglas is back to the sea as general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific Steamships at Vancouver, succeeding Capt. E. Aikman, who has gone to Montreal to be assistant to the chairman, Canadian Pacific Steamships.

Leaving the sea and coming back to it is not exactly new for the retired commander of his company's Pacific liner Empress of Japan, who has been on the beach now for only a few short months.

It was about 30 years ago when he left salt water to join a mineral-seeking expedition into northern Canada's bad lands, going with his brother, George Douglas, and a geologist, August Sandberg, 1,000 miles from the railway into the place discovered in 1825 by the ill-fated Franklin expedition.

His taste for adventure satisfied by these explorations he returned to the Canadian Pacific's fleet to take command of the Empress of Asia and later, in 1932, on the retirement of Capt. Samuel Robinson, the queen of the fleet, Empress of Japan.

His new executive post ashore finds Capt. Douglas with unique qualifications, for not only does he know the Pacific run thoroughly from years of sailing as officer and commander, but his seafaring has taken him to every part of the world.

Son of a distinguished soldier, Col. Campbell Mellis Douglas, who in 1872 won the Victoria Cross by running ammunition to beleaguered British troops of the Andaman Islands expedition under withering enemy fire, Capt. Douglas, with an early interest in ships—from canoes to full-rigged sailing ships—took his apprenticeship aboard H.M.C. Conway and put in three and a half years in the four-masted barque Silverhorn. In that time he sailed six times around the Horn.

FIRST IN SAIL

Of his days in the Silverhorn, Capt. Douglas has many tales to tell, but none more interesting than the ship's visit to the Pitcairn Islands where mutineers of the famous Bounty had taken up residence with native women and their half-caste children. The Bounty descendants, he said, had "got religion" and would demand of hardy members of the Silverhorn's company whether they had "seen the light." The answers they received from the ship's company, Capt. Douglas states, were delivered in forthright sailorly fashion, pungent with expletives and somewhat confusing to the simple natives.

But Capt. Douglas left the fine old Silverhorn for steam and went with the Clan Line of Glasgow sailing to India. He sailed, too, from New York to South Africa with supplies for the Boer War, but they found that it was six months before they could get in to land cargo.

This enforced idleness, however, enabled the young officer to burn the midnight oil and "swot" for an extra-master's certificate which he obtained. Followed a two months' course with the Royal Navy, and in 1905 he took a three months' transfer to the Canadian Pacific Steamships on the Atlantic, coming afterwards to the Pacific fleet, where he served successfully on the Empress of India, Empress of China, Empress of Asia and Empress of Japan.

CHASED EMDEN

He was in the Empress of Russia at Hongkong at the outbreak of war in 1914, and the ship was commissioned by the Admiralty to join the chase for the German raider Emden. When the Emden was eventually destroyed by H.M.S. Sydney off the Cocos Islands it was the Empress of Russia, then commanded by Capt. Robinson, which took the prisoners aboard and transported them to Colombo. Later Capt. Douglas served with the navy in the Red Sea and was in the Empress of Asia, also commanded by Capt. Robinson, in the bombardments of Salaf, Lohiela and Hodeida. Towards the end of the war he took command of the Princess Juliana and transported American troops from New York to Liverpool.

He left the navy with rank of Lieut.-Commander R.N.R., and returned to the Canadian Pacific fleet. His first command under the C.P. houseflag was the Empress of Asia in 1921, and in August, 1931, he lowered the Empress of Canada's trans-Pacific time by five hours.

New York List

NEW YORK (AP)—Despite another good performance by the rails, the stock market today confined itself to a sideways crawl that produced something like an even split of minor gains and losses for the leaders.

Profit-selling was a handicap to a number of the bellwethers of the July upturn, and some of these remained under water throughout the session. Closing prices of most carriers and a few other resistant issues were near the day's best.

The trading pace slowed down sharply, transfers amounting to approximately 600,000 shares compared with yesterday's 1,350,630, which were the second largest since last November 12.

Motor shares remained on the outside most of the day, receiving no perceptible stimulus from William Knudsen's comment that the automobile industry would be given opportunity to find substitute materials if it involved no interference with the defence program.

Rails were given some of their lift by estimates of additional carloading gains. Favored stocks included Bethlehem Steel, Boeing, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Great Northern Preferred, Westinghouse, Owens-Illinois and Pathe. The last named reached a 1941 high. Wright Aeronautical rose around 10 points to a new year's top.

Canadian stocks showed no definite trend. Canadian Pacific gained 1/4 while Dome Mines lost 1/4. Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagram were unchanged. In the bond market Canada 4s gained 1/4.

Dow Jones averages closed today as follows:
30 Industrials, 129.16, off 42
20 Rails, 30.30, up .01
20 Utilities, 18.78, up .06
Total sales—630,000 shares.

Trading Slips

TORONTO (CP)—Buying interest lagged Wednesday on the Toronto exchange and prices were inclined to soften a bit but losses were insignificant except in base metals.

Steep Rock closed around 1.54 for a loss of a cent. Nickel, Noranda and Sherritt finished the session on the downside.

Aunor, San Antonio, Sylvanite and O'Brien were down 5 cents. Toburn held a gain of 10 cents and Teek Hughes, Malartic Gold Fields and McKenize added a cent or two.

Massey-Harris pfd. firmed 1/4 to 42. Goodyear Tire gained 2 to 72 1/2 and Canada Maltine firmed a point to 34. A loss of 1/4 to 66 1/2 was posted for Steel of Canada pfd.

Among junior oils minor losses were boarded by Home Oil, United, South End Pete and Homestead and Vermilata gained a cent to 2.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—Wheat futures prices slipped 1/4 to 1 cent on Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as minor selling orders outweighed meagre support from exports, mills and locals. July wheat closed at 75 1/2, October 77, and December 78 1/2 cents a bushel.

A minor amount of durum wheat was reported worked for shipment to the United Kingdom.

In the coarse grain pit, mills offered fair support for oats, but oats and barley prices both worked lower on liquidation, oats losing about 1 1/2 cents, barley 2 1/2 cents. Flax and rye prices drifted downward in dull trade.

Cash wheat continued along lines of the past few days, with mills buying minor amounts of Nos. 3 and 4 northern.

Chicago wheat values were about 1/4 higher just before close, throwing off earlier losses as of offering dried up. Buenos Aires quotations were unchanged.

Country marketings of wheat yesterday amounted to 747,000 bushels compared with 895,000 bushels the same day last year, while grain inspections totaled 626 cars against 1,039 a year ago.

Desert Dwellers Have Habit of Stealing

The name "Bedouin" means "dweller in the desert." To this day many Bedouins spend most, or all, of their time moving about the desert.

Thanks chiefly to sunshine, Bedouins have brownish skins. They are members of the white race, and would be more nearly white if it were not for tanning. To some extent they have mixed with people of darker skins, but at least we may call them "mainly white."

Bedouins are not so tall as the average of white men. Yet they are lean and fairly strong. They are expert riders, and have a love of liberty.

Central Arabia may be called the homeland of the Bedouins. They have spread to Syria and Iraq, also to Egypt and other parts of northern Africa, but their first known home is the heart of Arabia. They call themselves Moslems, though they are not very faithful to the religion.

Bedouins of the desert have tent colonies. In a camp there may be only 15 or 20 tents, and these are likely to be moved every week or two.

A BEDOUIN of the SYRIAN DESERT.

Camels are the chief animals which these people take with them as they travel about the desert. Those who live in an oasis, or at the edge of the desert, also raise cattle, sheep and goats.

A bad thing about the Bedouins is their habit of stealing. They go forth on raids, and ride scores of miles to find a camp from which they can take livestock.

If you ask them why they are such robbers, perhaps they would reply: "Last year the people in two camps came and stole some of our livestock. So we are just having revenge on them."

That sort of "revenge" can keep going on and on. It has been popular for hundreds of years.

One odd custom of the Bedouins is not to steal camels until after the month when the young have been weaned. That is odd in one way, but in another way it is only common sense. If the young camels live to grow up, there will be more to steal the next year.

Although many Bedouins still follow a roaming desert life, there are others who have settled down. Thousands live in fixed homes in Syria, Egypt and elsewhere. They raise crops, and have fairly good farms. Even among the farmers a bit of plow-stealing takes place, but they build walls around their land and keep most of the robbers away.

HOROSCOPE

Adverse aspects are in the ascendant today. Unexpected steps may be taken by powerful leaders as they embark on revolutionary campaigns. Under the influence of the new moon both men and women may seek new means of advancement. With Venus in adverse square to Neptune many persons may be easily hurt. Businessmen should guard against arbitrary moves which may cause resentment among their associates and employees.

The seers advise caution in legal matters. London astrologers declare the threat of invasion may be greatly discussed at this time. Nevertheless the seers foresee great optimism among the people of the British Isles.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a favorable year. Children born on this day may be artistic and temperamental.

Ability Recognized
LONDON (CP) When the Women's Auxiliary Air Force was formed it took two or three women to fill the place of one man, Lady Sinclair, wife of the air minister, said in an address. "Now it has been realized that it takes only one woman to replace a man," which, she added, "shows how the country is progressing."

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR DOROTHY DIX—Speaking for myself and many other soldiers in the camp in which I am now serving, I would like to know your honest and sincere opinion of girls who write to us for a few weeks and then seem to forget us completely. Why is it that they let us down when we need their co-operation? One year and so many miles shouldn't make a difference in their sentimental feelings toward us. After all, girls are an essential part of the defence program. They are the backbone of this army and have a great deal to do in helping to keep up our morale. What's the matter with the girls?

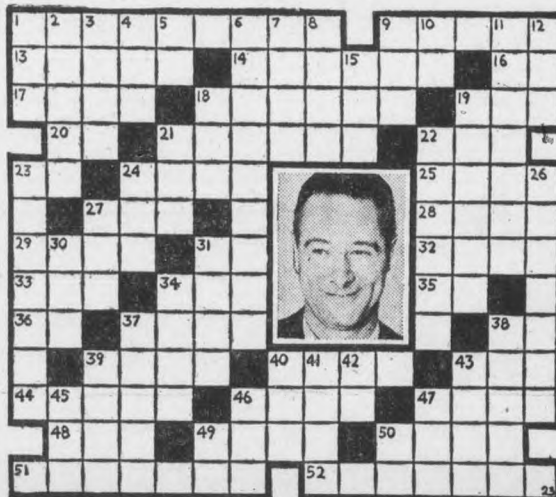

Answer: Well, Soldier Boy, I expect the trouble is that most of the girls are not very gifted letter writers, and after they have written you a few times and told you how much they miss you, and how lonesome they are, and how they are looking forward to your coming back they have about written themselves out.

It isn't that they have forgotten you or are any less interested in you. It is just that it is an effort to write and they put it off, forgetting how anxious you are to hear from home.

A good way to get them going would be to send them a list of queries. Say please tell me about so-and-so, or this and that, and who's going with whom and all the other gossip you can think of. After all, that is the kind of letter that all of us like to get, because we can read what is happening in the world in the newspapers, but what we want to know is what is taking place in Rabbit Track.

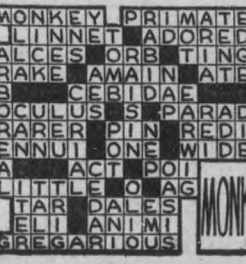

DOROTHY DIX.

Welsh Blitz Raiders Forced to 20,000 Feet

By DOUGLAS AMARON
CARDIFF (CP)—Greatest coal exporting port in the world and since the war one of Britain's important gateways to the western hemisphere, Cardiff is a natural target for German bombers.

Enemy planes first crossed the Bristol Channel to attack the South Wales city in June, 1940, and since then the presence of raiders has been signalled hundreds of times. Bombs were not always dropped, but Cardiff shares a place with other British ports in the front line of air warfare.

It was not until this year, however, that Cardiff entered the category of "blitzed" cities. Such bombing as there was last year was on a comparatively minor scale, and damage was insignificant compared with what some other British cities suffered.

The first intense raid came in January and up to the present none has caused more casualties, although damage was less than the fire attack March 3.

Deaths from all Cardiff's bombings, however, have been fewer than one night's toll in some of the early raids on London. Lessons learned from other towns, caution and luck combined to keep the casualty list low.

"The novelty of air raids has worn off and people keep under cover," said a Royal Air Force corporal, in Cardiff through all its attacks. "At first there used to be crowds in the streets watching shells burst in the sky, but people aren't so curious now."

SHELTERS AT HOME
Surface shelters are conveniently spaced throughout the city, but many residents prefer to stay at home, among them Mayor Charles H. McCauley, who believes a shelter under the stairs as safe a place as any. To support his belief he told of a direct hit on an Anderson shelter that killed eight occupants, while the same number of people sheltering under the stairway of their home were unscathed when a bomb landed on the house.

Cardiff in many ways resembles parts of London after the first few nights of heavy bombing there. It is possible to walk for blocks without seeing more than a shattered window and houses flattened to the ground are still a magnet for sightseers.

Such heaps of debris can be found in every district, but the rarest thing saw to mass destruction was a street of workmen's little houses, many shattered beyond repair and scores more with windows and roofs blasted open. Superficial damage is repaired quickly, for Cardiff officials try to get people back to their homes as soon as possible. Services of construction companies are pooled and it is sometimes only a matter of hours before windows are boarded up and roofs patched.

ANTI-AIRCRAFT EFFECTIVE

Effective anti-aircraft defence is one reason why damage has not been more extensive. Cardiff's guns, which put up a better show than any I heard in seven months in London, are credited with keeping planes well above 20,000 feet and many that ventured lower crashed into Britol Channel, victims of deadly accurate fire.

If damage to military objectives has been slight and damage to civilian property great it is partly because of the great ground defences. Germans, Mayor McCauley said, cannot find their targets from such a height, but drop bombs none the less and civilians have to pay the price.

I arrived here the evening after the fiercest fire raid any city outside London has experienced. Officials said 140 blazes started, but there were no flames to guide raiders when they returned the next night. Despite the intensity of the attack, services functioned almost normally. I traveled in trains from Cardiff's two main stations, rode buses and trams, passed stores, theatres and hotels crowded with people, drank water from a tap and read newspapers by electric light in front of a lighted gas fire.

There naturally were inconveniences. A main street was roped off because of delayed action bombs, but Royal Engineers were removing them, cheered by shop owners who soon got back to their premises. In other places direct hits by high explosive bombs or danger from debris falling from burned-out buildings kept streets closed, but diversion signs guided pedestrians and motorists around the areas.

The people of Cardiff stood up to their ordeal with courage typical of all Britain's civilians. "I don't think the people of London or anywhere else are taking it better than we," said Mayor McCauley.

Lumber Company Offices Entered

Papers and records of the R. A. Green Lumber Company were destroyed last night when burglars broke into the business offices of the company at 2930 Douglas Street and the factory offices at 2860 Quesset Street.

Police are investigating the burglaries and are endeavoring to connect them with five breaking and entering cases during the week-end. They were the premises of the Stewart-Hudson Retail Lumber Company, 465 Gorge Road, 1901 Government Street; McQuade and Sons Ltd., ship chandlers, 1214 Wharf Street; Pacific Sheet Metal Works, 1009 Yates Street, and the Francis Battery and Tire Service, 1412 Quadra Street.

Entrance was gained to the business offices of the Green Lumber Company last night by cutting a hole in the basement door. All drawers in the offices were ransacked and papers thrown on the floor. A desk, safe and typewriter were damaged and paint was poured over the floors.

The factory offices of the company were entered by breaking a panel in a rear door. In this case also papers were dumped over the floors.

Gradual Auto Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—William S. Knudsen, director of the O.P.M., said today an arbitrary 50 per cent reduction in automobile production would cause unemployment, and "we will have to go about it in a co-operative way with the industry."

"You can't just chop off 50 per cent," he said, "or you'll have a lot of people walking the streets."

New Zealand's exports in 1940 totaled $73,740,000 (about $265,464,000), the highest figures ever recorded.

Sawmill production in Canada during 1939 was valued at $100,132,597 compared with $92,855,906 in 1938.

PILOT KILLED IN ONTARIO CRASH

BELLEVILLE, Ont. (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force pilot, Sgt. D. J. Young of Edmonton, died in the flaming ruins of a Harvard trainer plane when it crashed in flames on the farm of James R. Anderson, near Mountview late last night.

Young, member of the personnel of the Trenton station, was engaged in night flying when the accident occurred. Thirteen-year-old Evan Bovay, who lives near the Anderson farm, heard the roar of a plane and a few seconds later a terrific crash. The boy, lying in bed, dashed to the window and saw the glow of the burning plane in the Anderson field. He told his parents and they raced to the scene of the accident.

"The plane was a mass of flames when we arrived," Mrs. Bovay said. "The heat was terrific and we could not get very close to the plane. A few minutes later air force fire trucks and ambulances arrived on the scene."

Sgt. Young's body was taken to the Trenton base and later sent to the Martin Funeral Home in Belleville, from where it will be sent to his home.

TO HEAR INTERNEE APPEALS—Magistrate Robert Forsyth of Toronto has been appointed by the Minister of Justice to sit on a committee of three to hear appeals of persons interned under Defence of Canada regulations. These appeals will be heard in different centres of Canada. He gets four months' leave of absence from his duties in the Toronto police court. Judge C. Cameron, Belleville, and Arthur Gagne, Montreal, are other members of the committee.

Tax Payments Soar

Desert Warfare

R.A.F. Pounds Bengazi, Axis Air Losses High

By GODFREY H. P. ANDERSON
WITH THE R.A.F. IN THE WESTERN DESERT, EGYPT (AP)—The British Middle East command, taking advantage of the German air force's preoccupation in the war with Russia, is ordering ever heavier attacks on Bengazi and other strategic Axis-held targets in Libya.

Night after night, long-range Royal Air Force bombers are plying a distance equal to that from London to Milan, Italy, carrying tons of big bombs to drop on the Mediterranean port, which now has suffered more raids than even the railway yards of Hamm, Germany.

LONG HAUL

With the back door of Bengazi kept firmly closed by the R.A.F., the Italians are forced to bring forward the war materials for their armies and air force on the Libyan front over a line of communications nearly 1,000 miles long from Tripoli to Sirte, which is the only usable port between Tripoli and Bengazi.

Tobruk, 80 miles from the Egyptian frontier, remains firmly in British hands.

As there is no railway, every bomb dropped on Tobruk or Alexandria by Axis fliers must be brought across hundreds of miles of difficult desert road by chain motor transport, which in turn makes the heaviest demand on fuel supplies and drivers' rations also brought from Tripoli.

AXIS AIR MORALE CRACKING

British authorities say documents recently captured show the morale of the air squadrons remaining in Libya is suffering under the constant strain of such difficult conditions. Letters which have fallen into British hands, it is said, accuse Italian generals of expecting too much from the German air force and emphasize the difficulties of operating from desert bases without adequate oil supplies and repair facilities.

UNEXPECTED TROUBLES

R.A.F. officers say two factors are responsible for heavy Axis air losses in Libya.

First, unexpected technical difficulties develop from desert flying and the lack of facilities for repairing damaged aircraft.

Second, the British use instantaneous action bombs which, instead of shattering buildings and blowing great craters, spread small splinters over an area up to 500 yards, peppering grounded aircraft with fragments of steel.

"These splinters, lodging in vital parts of engines and fuselage, put the machines out of order temporarily," an R.A.F. staff officer said, "and because there are no big repair depots in Libya, the Axis fliers have to wait weeks until spare parts can be brought from Italy."

"By the time the parts arrive, if the ship bringing them is not sunk by a British submarine, the plane's engine is so filled with wind-blown desert sand through long exposure that it is due for a major overhaul."

Road was attended also at 9.45 last night.

Saanich firemen extinguished a grass and bush fire on Wiseton Street at 5.26 last evening.

Amark Extends Frankie Parker

SEABRIGHT, N.J. (AP) — Frankie Parker, the clay court master, almost missed the boat yesterday as the seeded stars coasted into the third round of the 54th annual Seabright invitation tennis tournament.

Winner of eight out of nine clay court tournaments, Parker found himself on grass for the first time this year, and the change forced him to go all out for a three-set victory over Edwin G. Amark of San Francisco, 7-5, 3-6, 6-2.

Top-seeded Don McNeill, the national champion, made an impressive tournament debut by polishing off Robert Kerdasha 6-3, 6-0. Second-seeded Bobby Riggs, the defending tournament titlist, won easily over William Canning 6-2, 6-1, and Frank Kovacs, seeded fourth, trounced Henry Batjer 6-1, 6-1, to join Parker in the third round.

MAKO BEATEN

Gene Mako fell before Seymour Greenberg 6-2, 6-3; Frank Shields bowed to William Crosby 7-5, 6-3 and George Lytleton Rogers went down 6-1, 6-2 before Joe Fishback.

Second round competition in the women's division produced the tournament's first major upset as Virginia Wolfenden, the fourth-seeded star, was eliminated by Mrs. Millicent Hirsch Lang, in a two-hour battle, 6-4, 1-6, 10-8.

Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Cooke encountered some resistance from Jane Stanton before winning, 6-1, 7-5. Helen Jacobs outclassed Shirley Catton in straight love sets and Dorothy May Bundy seeded third, trimmed Mrs. Helen Ribhany 6-1, 6-1.

Four Leading Race Jockeys Injured

NEW YORK (AP) — Four jockeys were hurt yesterday when their mounts figured in a spectacular spill near the head of the stretch in the fourth race of the Empire City program.

Reports from the track first-aid quarters said Allen Gray, 22, rider from Grace, Idaho, suffered cuts over his eye and was being sent to a hospital to have both shoulders X-rayed, and that the veteran Johnny Gilbert also decided to go to a hospital for a check-up. He came out of the scramble with a bump on his head.

The others in the mishap were Don Meade and Luis Torres, 22-year-old Puerto Rican. Meade rode and won the next race on the card.

Boy Held as Arsonist

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—A boy of nine who said "I like to see the flames" was held in the detention home after admitting, Coroner E. E. Smith said, that he set three fires—the last of which burned to death his four-year-old half-sister.

With matches he had obtained from his home in nearby Canal Winchester, Donald Hedrick fired a church parsonage, a paint store and his own house yesterday afternoon, the coroner said the boy told him.

Mary Lucile Hedrick, sleeping on the second floor of the home, was trapped.

R.C.A.F. on Fighting Front

Canadian Squadron Anxious for Battle

By LOUIS V. HUNTER

R.A.F. STATION SOMEWHERE IN ENGLAND (CP)—A Royal Canadian Air Force fighter squadron led by the veteran Vaughn Corbett of Montreal has moved closer to the new "sky front" over Nazi-occupied northern France and already has taken a nick out of the German air machine.

The squadron has taken part in one of Britain's smashing offensive sweeps on the other side of the English Channel, and the youthful fliers are aching to play a bigger part in the drives.

Squadron Leader Corbett, who was shot down over London during the Battle of Britain last fall while he was with one of the Canadian fighter squadrons, said the "boys are keen to get into action, either as bomber escorts or in fighter sweeps over France."

NAZIS FAILED TO RISE

"We went over on one sweep, but the Germans were afraid to come up and see us that day, and there was no excitement," he said.

Since the squadron moved to this corner of the country the air men have been engaged on patrol flights over the Channel, protecting convoys from enemy air attack or ready to intercept German fighters attempting to fly inland over the English coast.

It was during two of these patrols that two German aircraft were damaged by members of the squadron. Towards the end of June Sgt. Pilot Graham Robertson of Toronto, son of Dr. D. E. Robertson of Moose River Mine disaster fame, damaged a Junkers 88 which made off towards France. Earlier, Flying Officer Bob Morrow of Vancouver was credited officially with damaging a German machine during a convoy patrol.

John T. Farris, author of many books and from 1908 to 1936 editor of the Presbyterian Board of Christian Education at Philadelphia, is planning to visit Vancouver Island for a month starting on July 27, according to a letter to the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau. Mr. Farris is present is at Fort Norman, completing a tour of the Arctic. Among his books is "Seeing Canada."
